Over $3,000 In Seal Sale Return

Less Than Quarter Of Quota Netted In First Two Weeks Of Annual Seal Sale

Alec Samuels, chairman of the Christmas Seal Sale for the control of tuberculosis, announced today that $3,601.42 has been netted during the first two weeks of the annual campaign. This figure is less than one quarter of the country's quota of $16,200 and does not include the returns from Ellwood City.

Chairman Samuels appealed to the residents of the county today to not delay in mailing their money to this year's effort.

"The amount asked for the seals is small," he said, "and everyone is asked to be prompt in mailing in their money to the society. I am confident that the county will put this year's drive over the top if all cooperate. This is a worthy endeavor and merits each citizen's unhesitating support."

Bangle Day, December 21

Mr. Samuels reminded Lawrence citizens that Bangle Day will be December 21, four days before the termination of the campaign. At that time Rainbow Girls will sell their bangles as in years past at many places throughout the city.

Big Four Near Settlement Of Treaty Issues

Sudden Compromise Settlement Of Outstanding Questions, Is Now Indicated

OPTIMISTIC AIR AT CONFERENCE

By PIERRE J. HUSS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—A sudden compromise settlement on the five treaties of all outstanding questions in the next few days is anticipated in Big Four circles today as the council reconvenes.

The ministers will make another attempt at 4 o'clock to crack the reparations and compensation deadlocks, but there is a general air of expectancy that a complete agreement is not far off.

Soviet Foreign Secretary Molotov holds the key to the answers and diplomatic sources believe that his conciliatory moves of the past week have not yet reached a dead end. He is reportedly awaiting instructions from Moscow on the inclusion in the treaties of the principle of free navigation of the Danube and the fixing of reparations sums to be earmarked for payment by Italy and Yugoslavia.

Optimism Prevails Over Prospects For Arms Reductions

By GEORGE DURNO
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

LAKE SUCCESS, Dec. 5.—An air of optimism prevailed today in the United Nations over prospects of world arms reductions.

Soviet Russia's pledge she would not attempt to exercise a veto on control and inspection, once it was set up, gave the 54 member governments their first common working ground on disarmament in eight weeks of debate.

Wyatt Ends Career As Housing Chief

By CHARLES B. SEIB
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Wilson W. Wyatt today will write "finis" to his career as U. S. housing chief and to his plans for a broad federal emergency housing program.

Wyatt's resignation was accepted by President Truman, effective at the close of business today.

He refused to be quoted directly on his reasons for resigning, but a close associate put it this way: "Wyatt wanted emergency controls in order to get emergency housing. The President wants business-as-usual housing. Wyatt couldn't compromise, so he quit."

To Name Successor

The White House is expected to name either an acting or a permanent successor to Wyatt today.

Two possibilities being mentioned among housing officials are Raymond M. Foley, commissioner of the (Continued on Page Two)

Election Outcome Is Directive To Congress Declares GOP Chairman

By WILLIAM THEIS
(U. S. Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Chairman B. Carroll Reece told a "victory" meeting of the Republican national committee today that the Nov. 5 election was a directive for the Democratic administration to "give heed to the expressed wishes of the people."

Reece opened the one-day committee session with a prepared report in which he warned that, despite promises of executive-legislative cooperation, conflict between the White House and the new GOP-controlled congress is "still probable." He declared:

"It remains to be seen whether the administration will seek by recourse to the presidential veto power, or otherwise, to prevent us from keeping our promises."

Reece called for changes in such agencies as the Interstate Commerce (Continued on Page Two)

Thorez Fails To Gain Election

Communist Leader Loses In Effort To Become French Premier

PARIS, Dec. 5.—(INS)—The Popular Front movement, whose leader Maurice Thorez down to defeat in his bid for the interim premiership, announced today that he would not be a candidate in the election to be held in January.

The popular front movement, second largest group in the national assembly, made the decision to present their former premier-president in a party caucus.

However, Communist opposition and a number of expected abstentions are likely to overwhelm Bidaud's attempt to succeed himself.

Observers also agreed that the only other probable FRP candidate, former Finance Minister Robert Schuman, would run into the combined opposition of the Socialists and Radical Socialists.

Back of him was Ralph Madison of Cleveland, O., also driving a new truck-tractor and hauling one. As he saw Heiser's tractor skidding, Madison pulled out but the sharp spoolout jacked his tractor and the towed tractor broke loose and started down the left side of the road.

Mr. Bryan was coming west on the hill and apparently never had a chance to escape the collision with the tractor. The tractor hit Bryan's car head on, bashing in the whole front, pushing the wheel almost to the seat, and then almost overturning hit the passenger car on the top. By this time the passenger car was forced over against the bank. The passenger car looked to be completely ruined.

Mr. Bryan and Miss Gray got out of the wrecked car somehow and found Mr. Bryan had cut his head.

Federal Housing Administration, a constituent of NHA, and William K. Divers, a special assistant to Wyatt.

There are also reports that some lame duck Democratic members of Congress have been asked to consider the job.

A Presidential statement on the housing situation accompanied the announcement of Wyatt's resignation. In it Mr. Truman said that the housing program "must be given its proper emphasis in the overall economy and controls must be re-laxed as rapidly as possible without threatening the success of the housing program."

Truman's Statements

The President pointed out that Wyatt's resignation "does not mean that any modification in the objective of rapidly and adequately housing our veterans has occurred."

Mr. Truman also made these statements:

On Rental Housing—"In addition to the governmental steps already taken to stimulate rental housing, Congress will be urged to give financial support to multi-unit low-rent apartments" and "will again be requested to pass the Wagner-Ellender-Taft housing bill."

On Prefabricated Homes—"With regard to factory-built housing, government loans and market guarantee contracts will be continued, attention will continue to be given to the merits of the individual project and to the effect upon our entire economy."

On Wyatt—"Mr. Wyatt has served his country with great personal sacrifice, and with tremendous energy, ability and devotion, during the past year. I have reluctantly accepted to Mr. Wyatt's desires and accepted his resignation."

Wyatt refused to comment on the future of the housing program, but an NH spokesman said flatly it was being "ditched" by the "hite House."

Residents' Nephew Dies In Pittsburgh

Mrs. George Lusk of Hillcrest avenue, and Navy Springs of Brooklyn avenue have received word of the death of their nephew, Rev. Oliver Ned Douds of Pittsburgh, who died in the Pittsburgh Presbyterian hospital December 3 after several weeks illness.

Rev. Douds was a son of the late Oliver A. and Nellie M. Douds, former residents of this city. Rev. Douds was pastor for eight years at the Third Presbyterian church of Steubenville, O., and since 1941 had been pastor of the Greenfield Presbyterian church, Pittsburgh.

Funeral services will be from the church Friday afternoon and interment will be in Beaver cemetery, Beaver, Pa.

OPTIMISM PREVAILS OVER PROSPECTS FOR ARMS REDUCTION

draft of a proposal for overall arms limitation, including the outlawing of "all weapons capable of mass destruction." This included primarily the atomic bomb, but also took cognizance of jet-propelled weapons, rockets, bacteriological warfare and new inventions of destruction.

The security council, in which the five major powers possess the right of veto, will draw up the final framework of a draft convention to be ratified by all United Nations members.

Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov's pronouncement before the UN political and security committee that Moscow demanded the veto during the preliminary stages, but not afterwards, gave rise to the optimism.

U. S. Studies Amendments

It was tempered in various delegations. Molotov had accepted the American formula, with three amendments. Overnight, the U. S. delegation, in close communication with Washington, was studying these amendments before announcing final acceptance.

The United States, Great Britain and Canada had emphasized, however, that there should be no interference with the work of the atomic energy commission. A long-delayed report from this body on the control of atomic energy was expected momentarily—possibly even tonight.

Newest Soviet proposition generally was conceded to be well within the provision of the United Nations charter and previous instructions from the general assembly.

The assembly set up the atomic energy commission and gave it a mandate to bring out a concrete proposal from peace time control and inspection of the manufacture and use of atomic energy. Under the mandate, this report must go to the security council.

Delegates conceded—including the American group—that once this report was submitted, the security council could "revise or twist it" as desired, with the veto power prevailing.

But once a plan of control is agreed upon, each nation must ratify it. In the case of the United States, it requires a two-thirds vote of the senate.

CUT PASSENGER TRAINS MONDAY

P. M. The Pennsy previously cancelled two Cleveland trains, 333 and 332, under the first reduction order. The division also announced that from November 21 until December 2 some 60 yard crew workers have been furloughed due to the strike with more lay-offs imminent under the new curtailment order.

P. & L. E. Plans

P. and L. E. railroad has a tentative cancellation list which lists four trains that serve the city. They are 85 and 86, Pittsburgh to Detroit, which will continue to operate daily but not on Sunday. Trains 79, Pittsburgh to Chicago train, and 36, Cleveland to Pittsburgh, previously taken off were trains 5 and 10, Pittsburgh to Buffalo, and 43 and 15, Pittsburgh to Youngstown.

B. & O. railroad is expected to make public their reduced schedules later today.

Express Freight Cut

Under the new Railway Express embargo only the most vital supplies will be handled. It was announced. This includes food for human consumption, livestock and poultry, medicines, drugs, surgical supplies and related items, cables and funeral supplies, newspapers, newspapers and magazines, films, insecticides and fungicides, repair and replacement parts necessary to produce fuel and maintain transportation operations, and money classification shipments.

Effective Monday truck drivers will be furloughed at the local agency as a result of the embargo. Approximately eight will be temporarily laid off.

BIG FOUR NEAR SETTLEMENT OF TREATY ISSUES

sponsor the document. The memorandum asks the award of Gorizia to Yugoslavia in return for Yugoslav adherence to the Italian treaty.

The problem of financing the treaty and of paying the governor's salary, hitherto neglected, will receive priority consideration this afternoon in order to submit some sort of practical plan for approval by the U. N. general assembly. A group of experts worked late last night and this morning to draft a "feasible proposal."

The council also hopes to have before it a report from the naval committee on the use of motor torpedo boats by the Balkans, an issue long a thorn at the conference table.

Reparations Problem

The barrier which blocked progress in the last week's session was mainly the most question of reparations, complicated somewhat when Molotov renewed a positive demand for inclusion of Albania in these payments from Italy. He drew fire from Secretary of State Byrnes, who remained firm in his belief that the Paris conference of 21 nations voted down such a recommendation. Byrnes furthermore pointed out that Albania already had benefited to the extent of a 100 million dollars in Italian assets left behind in Albania, including such improvements as roads and harbors.

The secretary added that in his opinion, it would be unwise and unjustified to increase Italy's war reparations burden. But Molotov stood his ground, bringing a threat from Byrnes to fall back upon the original Paris conference reparations to be paid by Italy to Yugoslavia and Greece, a sum much less than now under discussion. British Foreign Secretary Bevin's efforts to effect a compromise failed.

The council accepted the general provisions for the provisional regime of the Balkans, along with a regulation empowering the governor to call on the occupation troops when he deems it necessary.

The chairman emphasized that he referred only to agencies created by congress to administer "delegated legislative authority." He said:

"I believe that if a Republican president should be elected, a Democratic president should likewise agree that a Republican congress should have real Republicans in charge of those agencies responsible to that congress."

Martin Is Speaker

Rep. Joseph W. Martin, Jr. Mass., who will be the new house speaker, was the principal speaker for tonight's dinner in the Staller hotel.

The opening meeting provided a stage for two campaign lieutenants now opposing candidates for the key post of house majority leader—Reps. Clarence Brown, Ohio, and Charles A. Halleck, Indiana.

Their contest for the majority leadership will not be settled finally until the end of December. Although today's national committee meeting was regarded as a performance with no "fights" in the office, the Brown-Halleck race gave committee members something at least to talk about.

Election Is "Directive"

Reece told his GOP associates that the issue of the recent election represented "definite conflicts" between White House policies and those of Republican candidates. Thus, he said, the election was a "directive" to both the legislative and executive branches.

He added:

"It was a directive to the legislative branch to take certain steps and to enact certain laws for which the people have registered their approval."

Equally, it was a directive to the executive branch to desert from efforts to put into effect, or to continue in effect, certain other policies of which the people had registered their disapproval.

Relief At Last For Your Cough

Chronic bronchitis may develop if your cough, chest cold, or acute bronchitis is not treated and you cannot afford to take a chance with any medicine less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble to help loosen and expel germ laden phlegm and aid nature to soothe and heal raw, tender, inflamed bronchial mucous membranes.

Creomulsion blends birchwood creosote by special process with other time tested medicines for coughs. It contains no narcotics.

No matter how many medicines you have tried, tell your druggist to sell you a bottle of Creomulsion with the understanding you must like the way it quickly allays the cough, permits rest and sleep, or you are to have your money back. (Adv.)

Although a few pickets still appeared in downtown Oakland early today, union officials indicated these would be removed following the union meeting this morning.

Hassler's announcement came after he was cloaked with AFL leaders in an emergency session lasting until shortly before day break and as the general strike went into its third consecutive day.

This Black Year

More Americans have been engaged in strikes this year than ever before in the history of the nation. The total for the first ten months of 1946 was 4,095,000, according to the Bureau of Labor Statistics. November, because of the coal strike, will put the figure far above the previous record of 4,169,000, established in 1919. And December has only begun.

This comparison makes no allowance for the fact that the population has increased since 1919 and there are therefore many more millions of American workers affected by industrial strife today than there were 27 years ago. Even so, it indicates that the history of the first year of peace after World War I has been repeated during this first year of peace after World War II.

Certainly 1946 has been a black year from the standpoint of labor strife when it is placed beside 1945, which was black enough. Man-days lost through strikes at the end of October totaled 102,525,000 this year against 38,025,000 for the entire 12 months of 1945. As a result of the coal strike, before the year is ended man-days lost in 1946 will be triple the 1945 figure.

The bureau notes that the number of man-days lost for the first ten months amounted to 1.6 per cent of the total working time. But that is not a criterion of the damage caused to the nation's economy by these stoppages. For example, a mine strike lasting two months would represent well under 20,000,000 man-days lost but it is estimated that it would put 25,000,000 workers out of employment.

That is something to remember in any attempt to compute the real cost of the man-days lost through strikes during this strife-torn year of 1946.

The Fourth Branch Of Government

President Truman's request that a Republican Congress cooperate with a Democratic executive branch of government received general approval from Republican leaders. This is especially true in the field of foreign affairs, where Senator Vandenberg has been working on equal footing with Secretary Byrnes.

The President observed that the Republicans had won Congress by Constitutional means—while he and his associates controlled executive functions by Constitutional means. There can be no quarrel with that point of view. At the same time, it must be clear to all that one great fact produced by the elections is that the American people are heartily sick of what might be termed the "fourth branch" of government.

This fourth branch came into being over the years through executive order. It has been maintained by the executive. It consists of the thousand-and-one boards, bureaus, authorities and administrations which were never specifically endorsed by the American people—and which have taken upon themselves many of the functions of Congress and the courts. These agencies constantly hamper industry through unworkable and obscure regulations of their own devising. They touch every phase of our life with the dead hand of bureaucracy. In case after case, they act themselves up as prosecutor, jury and judge.

If Congress and the executive are responsive to the people, their first task is to rid the country of this costly, freedom-destroying fourth branch of government as rapidly as possible.

More Meat Coming

Meat prices are still too high to convince the average consumer that the problem of keeping this particular food item on the family table has been solved satisfactorily. A review of the meat situation by the Department of Agriculture, though, indicates that a continued improvement can be looked for as the law of supply and demand gradually takes over after the years of controls.

The government says that the cattle population stands at a near-record figure now and that, as a result, beef and veal production next year will come close to the all-time high level of 84 pounds per capita reached in 1945. As much of the output in that year went overseas to the armed forces and to Russia as lend-lease, civilians could buy only approximately 70 pounds per person. So it is obvious that there will be more meat in 1947 than in 1945.

Better yet for the consumer, prices will turn down "moderately" when meat production reaches its seasonal peak early this winter. Both beef and pork will be cheaper, even though pork will be somewhat scarcer next year and lamb and mutton will also be short. Pork may rise again toward the end of winter, as marketing slumps, but beef prices should remain stable once the price breaks.

Looking still further ahead, the department says that cattle numbers are now high enough so that even a record slaughter will not reduce the livestock population. And it anticipates that there will be a large pig crop next spring, which will mean more pork in 1947 and 1948. It seems likely that when the pork comes to market it will help shade beef prices still further.

So it appears that, so far as meat is concerned, the worst of the reconversion period is over. From now on, barring the unlooked-for, things should continue to get better.

You are really ancient if you can remember when as a boy you went to the grocery and spent twelve cents for a pound bag of coffee which included a gold ring or a diamond brooch.

President Truman refuses to state whether he will run in 1948. Maybe he is waiting to see just how muddy the track will be.

Who says they don't have free elections in Russia? You have the choice of voting the Red ticket or taking a free ride to Siberia.

Atomic Armaments

Race Is Indicated

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—Recently in this column was told the story of how the United States supply of thorium, a valuable element in the process of atomic fission, was shut off by an Indian maharajah. The order came after the United States refused a British request for atomic bombs.

Further facts that have come to light make this episode seem even more revealing. Both British and American authorities deny that the ban is a deliberate retaliation. Nevertheless, it has the look of a reprisal.

The thorium comes from a mineral known as monazite sand. Monazite sand contains 27 other different kinds of rare materials essential to industry. In past years the United States has imported about two-thirds of its required supply of monazite sand from the state of Travancore in India, and one-third from Brazil.

Last April, the three American firms importing monazite sand for refining in this country were told that they would not be allowed to get any more of the product from Travancore. This meant the end of a small but essential American industry if the ban was to be permanent. Incidentally, the products derived from monazite sand are even more important to industry in war than in peace.

The leading importer and refiner is the Lindsay Light & Chemical Co., Chicago. Charles R. Lindsay, head of the company, went immediately to London. There he came up against a blank wall.

Lindsay was told politely that, since Travancore was an independent state, there was little that the British government could do about the ban. The maharajah, he was told, wanted to develop industry in his own country instead of being merely a supplier of raw materials.

Returning to this country, Lindsay sought help in Washington. He had the backing of the other two firms dealing with this rare material—one in Maywood, N. J., and the other in Brooklyn.

Lindsay entered into correspondence with the Canadian minister of supply, C. D. Howe, suggesting that if empire preference and the need for dollars was the issue, he would be willing to consider building a refining plant in Canada. Howe took the matter up with London. Later he sent word to Lindsay that Lord Portal, chairman of the British Atomic Energy committee, had said nothing could be done at present.

Frustrated, he has dealt with in England in the past, Lindsay has had the more or less plain intimation that if Americans want the products derived from monazite sand, they will have to have it. He got them from Great Britain. Perhaps, one letter suggested, order for a year would be considered, though that was not certain since the demand was already so great.

Reserves Going Rapidly
No monazite sand has come into this country from India since March. Reserves are being rapidly depleted. Derivatives of monazite sand are essential to the motion picture industry. They are essential in electronics, radar and radio. Thorium is vital to certain industrial processes quite apart from its use in atomic fission.

British officials here do not talk about the thorium dispute. They simply say that it has no connection with any action taken by the United States in connection with atomic energy.

They do, however, remind the American inquirer that we have a law which prohibits the export of any fissionable material except under license. This is a provision of the law, adopted by the last Congress, covering control of atomic energy. Perhaps it is a general misstatement, the maharajah of Travancore may have read the law. He may feel the same way about the export of thorium from his country.

That is where the matter stands today. If there are no imports from India by February or March, the entire film industry will gradually come to a standstill.

This, of course, is minor compared to the larger meaning that the episode may have. It suggests the pattern of fierce nationalistic competition in the field of atomic energy. We cannot assume too noble a pose in all this. Our monopoly of the new power inspires fear, suspicion, jealousy and hatred throughout the world. It makes for the kind of atomic armaments race that is certain to bring disaster and the shadow of that disaster is already upon us.

LOOKING AT LIFE

By ERICH BRANDEIS

I clipped an interesting advertisement out of a Kansas City newspaper.

"Two 'MUSTS' for your must calendar," it said.

Then came the picture of a violin with a price tag attached to it. On the price tag was printed "$45.000."

Under it, "Erica Morini, world's greatest woman violinist, and her rare Stradivarius."

In the next column the ad announced the next "POP" concert, "featuring ray music from the Broadway hit 'Call Me Mister' and from 'Porgy and Bess'."

If I lived in Kansas City they wouldn't have needed to entice me with that $45,000 violin. Erica Morini is really "the world's greatest woman violinist." That is a large order. But she is good and I know her music is good.

So why brag about that $45,000 fiddle? What difference does that make?

You could announce a violin concert by Erich Brandeis played on a $45,000 violin and it would still be a mess of our notes.

But I am sure that if Erica Morini played on a $25 instrument, you'd enjoy the performance.

Why must we here in this country always brag about the cost of things and pride ourselves that what we have has cost more than what anybody else has?

That sort of thing is extremely vulgar and has made us highly unpopular with other nations, who see in our bragging merely an opportunity to make suckers of us.

From Me To You

By MESEALL

Would you like to see the small files at work? Alright then you may look in on their meeting this evening at 310 North Jefferson street.

The small files are a group of men . . . between the ages of seven and thirty . . . who like to build airplane models. They are now working on a radio controlled job that will, when completed, make you stand on the ground and as you look into the air, say, with capital letters.

The Small Files is one organization that we the people of this community can be proud of . . . It's worthwhile in every respect . . . It develops the men who will one day be the men who will run this nation . . . we are for that type of organization one hundred percent.

Again your attention is called to the house numbers in front of your house or on the front of your house. Are the numbers readable . . . can they be made out from the street . . . if no numbers are there can't you find time to put some there . . . this is important . . . more especially now that a new city directory is on its way to the press . . . Solicitation for the directory is being made now, so now is the time to act on house numbers.

When basketball was being discussed last season . . . and a new coach being sought . . . it was stated by authority in the business that in 1947 a new floor would be available . . . It seems that something should be definitely started on this subject . . . We can have the best floor in western Pennsylvania . . . which would mean that New Castle could very easily become the center of Basketball in western Pennsylvania.

The only place where the state championship play can now be held is in Philadelphia . . . Let's get on the ball, you who made all the big talk last season . . . and get something started.

Well it started last night . . . the crown prince came home from the hospital . . . and he thinks that day is night and night is day . . . Ed . . . the little fellow seems to have an endless capacity . . . well it seemed that way when our sleep was interrupted several times last night . . . Guess we will get used to it again . . . seems so long ago since the little king was at that stage . . . Really though . . . out of the many years that you have children with you . . . it's a very short time that your sleep is lost.

The Parent Problem

By Garry C. Myers, Ph. D.

CHILD'S MOST PRECIOUS GIFT

The young child's most precious possession is his imagination. What else can afford him so much human satisfaction? What else, moreover, can be so useful in his mental development?

No one can buy or steal this possession from him, as it is something of a material sort. It is no respecter of economic levels. Any child, rich or poor, can have it in abundance. Indeed, the youngster who doesn't have too many material things lavished on him may be on that account, enjoy the boon of imagination to a superior degree.

Few Simple Toys

In terms of imagination a tot with a few spoons, clothespins or twigs may be richer than the child with a hundred more expensive toys. My recent bulletin, "Here Come the Fairies," may be had in a stamped envelope by writing me at 235 East 45th street, New York, N. Y.

Slowly the parent or other adult, rich or poor can hamper the expression and consequent growth of imagination in the child. Slowly also can any adult foster the development of the child's imagination. Without knowing it, many parents do dwarf the growth of the young child's creative powers or stimulate their growth depending on how much imagination these older persons have themselves. Unfortunately, most of us elders let our imagination slowly atrophy as we grow older and older and then we expect the youngsters to conform to our patterns of the hard, cold realities. Nevertheless, some children can go on enjoying their creative fantasies in spite of us.

Parents With Imagination

Then, happily, some parents have not only kept their own imagination alive but have also enjoyed the creations from the little youngsters' head and have even fanned his fires of fancy. Blessed is the child with such a parent or teacher.

But as I see it, some of the educational leaders who ought to do most to stimulate imagination in the growing child are the very ones who tell the millions about the young creator's neck. Haven't many of the most influential educators, advisers of parents, builders of school curricula, makers and selectors of books for young children displayed imaginative appeal with the fact that? Accordingly, the beautiful has almost disappeared from school books in the primary grades.

The Educational Experts

Many of our educational experts have tried to drop an atomic bomb on the king of fables, Santa Claus. But wonderful or not, could they not destroy him. He is immortal. For years and years I have in this column, in magazine articles and books and from the public platform endeavored parents and teachers to keep alive their own imagination and to enjoy the child's imagination with things.

Words and words. Moreover, I have urged parents to do their utmost to fire the fantasies of the young child by reading to him from folklores and other fanciful materials and by recording many of his imaginary yarns as he creates them. Some mothers have sent me copies of such yarns which are delightful to read. I have even printed a few of such in a new magazine for young children which I edit. Also I have made available a selected list of books from which to read to the baby and young child. Thousands of mothers have written for this list, enclosing a self-addressed stamped envelope, all that is required to secure it.

There is a distinct possibility that a dark horse still will win the coveted post.

Bourbon whisky production will increase sharply next year, but it will be about three or four years before you will be able to find substantial amounts of it in retail stores.

Reason for the increase—the record-breaking 1946 corn crop. Distillers will get twice as much corn in 1947 as they did this year.

But spokesmen for the distilling industry warn that the whisky supply is going to continue short despite increased production because it takes four years to age "bottled in bond" bourbon.

Cheerful note for tipplers: Blended brands will be more plentiful next year.

Senate Republicans who have just avoided a threatened fight over filling leadership posts in the upper chamber, now face an undercover tug-of-war over the chairmanship of the labor committee. Senator George D. Aiken (R) of Vermont was expected to get the post. However, he opposed the Case anti-strike bill backed by members of his party during the last session of Congress. The bill is certain to be reintroduced in January and sponsors of the measure do not want opposition from the driver's seat.

There has been an uneasy feeling in the country, ever since the exposure of several secret commitments by the late President Roosevelt to Russia, that time would uncover additional personal compacts sedulously kept from the public. Which is not the charge made by James E. Wardell, an attack of the war assets administration, before the House war surplus investigating committee are true or a figure of imagination is a matter that calls for the serious attention of the Congress which assemblies in January.

Among the additional are interlocking of agreements described by Wardell to the late President four are of the most vital import. One is said to have sanctioned the slave labor of two million Germans by Russia for a period of ten years. Another is said to have guaranteed Russia a free market for her products in the United States. Another is said to have approved Russian control of the Dardanelles. Another is said to have promised free passage of Russian shipping through the Suez and Panama Canals.

It is easily seen that the first two—German slave labor and free markets in the United States for Russian products of such labor—would be a body blow to American industry and labor. With slave labor and Soviet subsidies, plus immunity from tariffs, Russia could underbid so badly in many commodities as to drive our own producers out of business. No arrangement less sane from the American standpoint, could have been devised.

Halleck's Majority Leader Chances Receives Setbacks
Whiskey Production Years From Pre-War Peak
Nation's Capital Is Watching G. O. P. On Tariff

(Special to Central Press)

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—The outcome of the contest for majority leader in the House is uncertain, despite assertions by supporters of Rep. Charles A. Halleck (R) of Indiana that they are sure of enough votes to win. Two things have happened to jolt Halleck's bid for the post.

1—The large Pennsylvania delegation which Halleck counted as in the bag, held a meeting and decided on a watch and wait policy.

2—Rep. Everett M. Dirksen (R) of Illinois entered the race, a move that some GOP leaders say will divert more votes from Halleck than from Rep. Clarence Brown (R) of Ohio, generally regarded as Halleck's chief contestant.

Brown's bid admittedly is influenced by the candidacy of Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins (R) of Ohio who is said to feel that he outranks Brown because he is chairman of the Ohio GOP delegation.

There is a distinct possibility that a dark horse still will win the coveted post.

Which is not the charge made by James E. Wardell, an attack of the war assets administration, before the House war surplus investigating committee are true or a figure of imagination is a matter that calls for the serious attention of the Congress which assemblies in January.

Among the additional are interlocking of agreements described by Wardell to the late President four are of the most vital import. One is said to have sanctioned the slave labor of two million Germans by Russia for a period of ten years. Another is said to have guaranteed Russia a free market for her products in the United States. Another is said to have approved Russian control of the Dardanelles. Another is said to have promised free passage of Russian shipping through the Suez and Panama

Bar Association Plans Seminar

Will Have Luncheon December 21 And Discuss Procedural Rule Changes

OTHER NEWS OF COURT HOUSE

For the purpose of clarifying the changes in procedural rules for the bar association, which go into effect January 1, a luncheon and seminar will be held by the Lawrence County Bar Association in the Castleton hotel, Saturday, December 21, with Judge W. Walter Braham handling the seminar.

Some time ago the General Assembly delegated to the State Supreme court the authority for changing procedural rules. The upper court appointed a committee for the revision of the procedural rules and for the past two years this committee has been busy. Judge Braham has been one of the members of this committee and is familiar with the changes made and contemplated.

NOT A TRUE BILL

One addition is made to the bills of indictment reported by the grand jury. In the morals charge against J. L. McFarland, Not a true bill was returned and the costs of the case are placed upon the prosecutrix.

REPORT EXPENDITURES

Both the major parties, Republican and Democratic have reported their receipts and expenditures for the election held November 5. The Republican party showed receipts of $7644 and a balance on hand at the beginning of the campaign of $2726.22. The expenditures reported by Treasurer William D. Walton are $9410.05. William B. Stoughton, chairman of the Democratic party reports receipts of $1470 and expenditures of $1449. No individual reports have been made.

ONE SENTENCE

For operating a motor vehicle without the consent of the owner William B. Dugan was sentenced by Judge W. Walter Braham to pay the costs of the case and a fine of $50. In addition he was placed upon probation for 6 months.

Greece Formally Protests To UN On Infringement

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y., Dec. 5.—(AP)—Greece Wednesday filed a formal complaint with the United Nations security council against Yugoslavia, Albania and Bulgaria over alleged infringement of Greek borders.

The Greek complaint, lodged with Secretary General Trygve Lie, requested that a special investigating body be sent to that country to examine "on the spot" a long series of border incidents, many of them involving bloodshed.

The complaint was made under that article of the UN charter calling for a security council investigation of any situation which "might lead to international friction or is likely to endanger the maintenance of international peace and security."

Scientists Ask How One Hatches Land Snail's Egg

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 5.—(AP)—San Francisco scientists today sought the advice of Washington, D. C. experts on the poser, "How do you hatch a snail's egg?"

The learned men at the California Academy of Sciences are trying to crack this problem after a giant African land snail laid an egg. The snail is a member of the world's largest species of land snails, and its egg measured half an inch in diameter.

The snail's silent and lone achievement brought forth comments from naturalists and a cheer from the snail's owner, Dr. Wesley H. Dickinson of Long Beach, Cal.

Dickinson predicted more eggs could be expected later—possibly as many as a dozen.

Local experts admitted they knew nothing of the care of snail's eggs and telegraphed naturalists in Washington.

CHIMNEY FALLS IN HIGH WINDS

HITS FIVE HOMES

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—(AP)—A 32-mile-an-hour wind toppled a tall brick chimney at Mt. Sinai hospital onto five South Philadelphia homes today, slightly injuring four men.

The strong gust cascaded tons of bricks onto the houses, trapping the injured men in their third floor rooms.

Firemen evacuated them and rushed the injured to the nearby hospital. Eight families were driven from their homes but were allowed to return later.

Those hurt were: Joseph Gemmel, 32, and his brother Richard, 35, John Rockes, 60, and Benjamin Strache, 50.

U.S. To Seek Early Peace Treaty With Austria Says Truman

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(AP)—President Truman on Wednesday assured the newly-appointed Austrian minister, Dr. Ludwig Kleinwachter, of this government's intention to press for early consideration of a peace treaty for Austria.

Mr. Truman told the Austrian envoy that the United States felt that simultaneous withdrawal of the four occupying powers from Austria under the treaty would aid that country in difficult reconstruction tasks. Kleinwachter presented his credentials to Mr. Truman during his White House visit.

The chief executive also recalled that Austria was the first victim of Nazi aggression and added that for this reason the United States was glad to restore diplomatic relations. Kleinwachter expressed his appreciation of the renewal of diplomatic relations. He said:

"By this act the government of the United States, which has always regarded Austria as a country liberated from forcible domination, has once more reaffirmed the support accorded my country from the start from its difficult path of recovery."

Final Dance Plans Will Be Discussed

At the meeting of the Young Progressives club, Thursday evening, final plans will be made for the formal dance scheduled at the New Castle Country Club.

Eugene Fava is the chairman of the dance.

Dental Program In Tenth Year

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—Dental program of the Department of Health is now in its tenth year.

The work is carried on by dental health educators assigned to various sections of the state. They are registered dental hygienists who have had additional training in the field of education. They work principally in rural and semi-rural areas where they instruct children in the proper care of their teeth.

The assist in promoting a closer relationship between the State Health department and the school districts, and are available to the school districts for the purpose of training and helping dental hygienists employed by the school districts.

Industries See Prosperous Boom For U.S. In 1947

However Spokesmen Say Strikes, Spiraling Wages Can Dim New Year Prospects

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—(INS).—Spokesmen for four major industries Wednesday envisioned 1947 as a year of healthy prosperity for the United States, unless prospects are dimmed by strikes, or spiraling wage scales, that force prices out of the reach of consumers.

The forecasts were outlined to industry leaders attending the 51st annual Congress of American Industry.

Charles R. Hook, president of the American Rolling Mill company, speaking for the steel industry, said that the need for steel indicates that the steel industry's capacity will be fully occupied through 1947 at least.

Petroleum Sales Up
Eugene Holman, president of the Standard Oil company of New Jersey, revealed that sales of petroleum products in the United States are at the highest level in history, and should continue to increase.

B. E. Hutchinson, chairman of the finance committee, of the Chrysler corporation, speaking for the automobile industry, listed the many elements of strength in the industry.

They included a large pent-up demand, sizeable consumer purchasing power, ample unused facilities to provide large-scale employment, and the potential for greatly increased production.

Robert M. Gayford, president of the Ingersoll Milling Machine company of Rockford, Ill., speaking for the Machine Tool industry, said that by and large, the machine tool industry was in a good position.

"It has a reasonable backlog of unfilled orders, and a great opportunity in the offing—the opportunity to build for the potential market," he stated.

More than 1,000 women are established as dentists throughout the United States.

THE WORLD AND THE MUD PUDDLES

as reported, would represent a direct "double-cross" of Great Britain and a rank betrayal of Churchill. It need not be explained that Russian control of the Dardanelles would bring a direct threat to the British "life line" to India and the East. Just what authority the late President had to concede Russian use of Britain's Suez Canal is not mentioned. Nor is it clear how free use of the Panama Canal could be a matter of executive, instead of Congressional, authority. The open-handed donation of Chinese and Polish territory to Stalin, however, without the consent of the people of these two nations, together with the complete ignoring of Yalta and Tehran, suggests that this alleged concession of Turkish and British assets may have been possible.

It is an amazing thing that the whole truth about Roosevelt's secret commitments has not been revealed, even more than a year after Roosevelt's death. This fact in itself must be taken as evidence that these agreements are of such character that they will not stand the light of day. Meanwhile, our State Department and our representatives in the peace conference and the United Nations, constantly stand in fear of embarrassment by further and worse disclosures.

A Republican Congress should order out the secret files of the White House if they have not already been secretly destroyed—and get to the bottom of all the transactions of secret, personal diplomacy. Whether the Wardell charges are true or false, it must be expected that similar charges will be made from time to time until every pertinent fact is made known to the American people.

It will be remembered that one of the first acts of the late President, F.D.R., was to accomplish the recognition of the Soviet government—something that the United States had refused to do since the Russian Revolution. That act opened wide the door for Communist propaganda in the United States. And even now Elliott, the second son of F.D.R., has been in Moscow for some time and the things that he has said while there indicate that his father has impressed him thoroughly with the idea of being very friendly to the communistic government of Soviet Russia. Henry Wallace, with his great devotion to F.D.R. and all the ideas of the New Deal also urges friendly collaboration with Russia.

MINERALS

The body needs a great variety of minerals to keep it in good condition.

These minerals are provided by different kinds of foods. Each article of food provides different minerals.

Meat provides certain minerals, potatoes provide others, fruit provides others, milk provides still other kinds.

Only by eating a variety of foods may these minerals be obtained.

Meat, fish, eggs, milk products, vegetables of all kinds, fruits and cereals should all be included in the diet.

By eating as many different kinds of foods as possible perhaps the necessary variety of minerals may be secured.

What People Say

WASHINGTON—John L. Lewis in a statement to the court before being found guilty of contempt: "I cannot by action or inaction subscribe to the rule of recrudescence of government by injunction."

WASHINGTON—Harold L. Ickes, former secretary of interior: "John L. Lewis has been given a pat on the wrist with a feather."

NEW YORK—William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor: "Any businessman who advocates government control of labor through legislation is digging his own grave and the grave of the free enterprise system."

LAKE SUCCESS—Senator Tom Connally expounds the attitude of the United States toward Franco Spain: "Its Fascist origins, nature and policies are completely alien to our way of life... we are unalterably opposed to the Franco regime, its totalitarian character and its suppression of human rights and freedoms."

EVENING WEDDING

Question: Is it positively incorrect to wear tuxedo at a 5:30 p. m. wedding in a small town. The bride will wear an ivory velvet bridal gown and veil. Since in the winter it is dark at that hour, I thought perhaps the men of the wedding party might wear evening clothes rather than morning clothes. (2) Is it correct to have only a maid-of-honor (no bridesmaids) if we have four ushers, in addition to the best man? (3) What is the procedure for a double ring ceremony?

Answer: Although the 6 p. m. rule usually follows for the wearing of evening clothes, since your wedding will be so near that hour and as you say it is dark then in winter, you can "get away with it." However, tuxedos are semi-formal attire and a wedding such as you describe formal clothes—swallowtail coat, white waistcoat and tie—are more correct. When the bride wears a dinner dress, the men may then correctly wear dinner coats—tuxedos. (2) Yes. You may have only one attendant, even though you will have four ushers. It does not matter since the ushers walk up the aisle in pairs. (3) DOUBLE RING CEREMONY: The bride must buy her bridegroom's wedding ring or the bride may carry it herself. In the latter event, she may wear it on her wedding ring finger over her glove, or on her little finger. Thus she will be sure to have it when the time comes for making use of it. When you make your wedding arrangements with the clergyman, be sure to tell him that yours will be a double ring ceremony that he may let you know when, during the ceremony, you should place the groom's ring on his third finger of his left hand. This is usually done before the bride has received her ring.

Question: At an informal tea at which the hostess is "pouring" who greets incoming guests when there is no servant?

Answer: A member of the family should attend to this duty. The hostess usually asks a friend to pour in her stead.

Attorney Solves Skeleton Mystery

TOMS RIVER, N. J., Dec. 5.—(INS).—The mystery of a woman's skeleton found by two hunting dogs in the barren Clayton bogs near Toms River was solved today by the sharp memory of a Lakewood attorney.

The attorney, J. Elmer Matthews, thereby solved another mystery too—that of the disappearance of his 78-year-old mother, Mrs. Phoebe Matthews, who had wandered away from their home in 1945.

Toms River police called him in when the discovery was made. He took one look and identified it as the body of his mother.

Matthews explained that he recalled his mother had told him she had broken her left leg in an accident when she was a girl and there was a fracture visible on the left leg of the skeleton.

Sgt. Peter Denako Home From Service

Terminating two years of service in the army, Sgt. Peter Denako has returned to his home, having received his honorable discharge from that branch of the armed forces.

Sgt. Denako began his army career at Fort McClellan, Ala., where he took training in the infantry and after 11 months of such training he embarked for the Philippines, where he was engaged as an amphibious truck driver for the past 13 months.

A graduate of New Castle high school, Sgt. Denako is the son of Mrs. Katherine Denako, 109 Smithfield street.

was wrecked on a reef near New Castle. The victims, A. William Pratt of Pratt Island, Noroton, Conn., and John Steiner of New York, said their 60-foot vessel Nadine struck a reef off Reedy Island. They sent up signal flares which attracted the cutter Zimla, several miles away.

Sees Atom Power In Competition With Coal Fuel

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—(INS).—An executive of the Oak Ridge atomic project today viewed the possibility that power plants using atomic energy can be set up "in the next few years" to compete with those using coal as fuel if the soft coal price reaches $10 a ton.

The prediction was made by Dr. Charles A. Thomas, vice president of the Monsanto Chemical Co. in a lecture at the University of Pennsylvania.

Dr. Thomas disclosed that the first experimental power plant ever to utilize atomic energy will be in operation at Oak Ridge by 1948.

He pointed out that power generated by nuclear fission will not supplant the present methods of manufacturing electricity, but will supplement them by making it possible to establish plants in out-of-the-way locations.

THE TELEPHONE INDUSTRY (like other industries) CAN'T MAKE BRICKS WITHOUT STRAW

WHEN YOU HAVE the organization and the experience and the know-how to do a job—when you have the wish and the will—you have pretty much of everything.

But "pretty much" is not enough.

You still need the straw to make your bricks... and it's the straw that we're lacking.

It's the straw that other industries are lacking, too... and other industries, as you know, are also having trouble making bricks.

Shortages of cotton yarn, for example, mean that our suppliers can't provide as much switchboard cable, frame wire, textile-insulated cable, cords, and drop wire as we need. Shortages of brass mill products cut our quota of central office switchboards, relays, and other apparatus. Shortages of lead and steel and plastics and rayon and lumber mean shortages of the thousand-and-one tiny and big things that combine to make telephone service possible.

But don't get us wrong.

We're making bricks—thousands of them. And every new shipment of straw enables us to make thousands more.

We're impatient, that's all. We don't like to keep anyone waiting for telephone service. We feel out of character when we do.

So we're making every brick count... and we're using old bricks where we have to... and we don't know a single telephone employee who thinks for a single moment that we have reached our last straw...

and here are some straws in the wind

This winter and next spring, we'll make huge additions to our Pennsylvania plant. We'll provide enough new facilities to take a big bite out of our waiting lists and to make telephone service available for thousands who are waiting.

In the meantime, we're making headway faster than we thought possible in the face of continuing material shortages, a supply situation that can't yet keep up with our demands, and a new demand for telephone service that continues to smash all records, shatter all predictions, and upset all calculations.

In short, we're making real progress toward our goal of providing new telephone service for anyone who wants it, and the world's finest telephone service for everyone who uses it, anywhere in the territory we serve.

Rule Children May Not Live In Apartment House

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 5.—(INS)—The Ohio supreme court, in a four to three decision, upheld Wednesday the validity of a written agreement which stipulates that no children may live in an apartment. The court reversed Cleveland municipal and eighth district appellate court decisions and upheld the right of the Lamont Building Company of Cleveland to evict Marvin Court, 21-year-old war veteran, and his 23-year-old wife and year-old son. The court held that a landlord may validly stipulate in a written agreement that the occupancy shall be confined to adult persons. When a tenant brings a young child to live in an apartment in violation of such an agreement, the court held, he may be evicted. The decision ended a court battle to decide whether it is "sociologically wrong" to evict tenants because of the birth of a child. The Lamont Company contended the courts violated the terms of the agreement because they knew when they signed the "adults-only" lease that a child was about to be born to them. The son, Donald Leslie Court, was born six months after the Courts moved in.

Dog Waits 103 Days For Master

Thrown From Auto, Cocker Spaniel
Stays At Spot In Lonely
Vigil For Owner

HARRISBURG, Pa.—(INS)—The story of a cocker spaniel who kept a 103-day watch for her owner has been added to the long list of true dog stories by Lewis Y. Hagy of Harrisburg. The tenacious pet is Judy, a five-year-old buff-colored spaniel with a fondness for riding in automobiles. It was during an automobile trip between Easton and Philadelphia that the little dog was lost. She was looking out of the window when a sudden lurch of the machine threw her out the road. Drove 25 Miles Hagy estimated he drove on for 25 miles before missing the dog. A search along the area proved fruitless. State police were asked to look for Judy, advertisements were placed with papers in the vicinity and the loss of the dog was even broadcast over local radios. Four days later Judy was reported killed by an automobile and Hagy gave up the search. Weeks Pass Fifteen weeks later Hagy learned during a long-distance telephone conversation that his pet was still alive—and still waiting for him where she fell. Farmers in the area had fed her, but were unable to catch her. Judy, they reported, had kept vigil for 103 days over a quarter-mile section encompassing the spot where she was separated from her master.

Fifth Operation May Restore Sight After 20 Years

PINE GROVE, Pa., Dec. 5.—(INS)—Edward Gibson, 56, of Pine Grove, was enroute to New York Wednesday for an operation in the hope of regaining his eyesight after 20 years. The middle-aged man, who has developed a skill at toy making to compensate for his loss of sight, was scheduled to undergo his fifth operation today. The delicate operation will be performed by Dr. Don Weeks Bogart, noted eye surgeon. A newspaper article hailing the physician's success started Gibson on his journey. Gibson lost the sight of his right eye when he was 12 years old and became totally blind after a steel splinter lodged in his left eye while he was sharpening tools. The New York surgeon has given him some reason to hope he may see again with his left eye, Gibson said.

One Film Scene Uses 42 Stunt Men

HOLLYWOOD.—(INS)—Nearly every stunt man in Hollywood is working today in Paramount's "The Big Hearted" Ford-Two of the expert five-and-a-half boys are slugging each other in a dangerous fight in the wheat harvesting drama. Alan Ladd, Robert Preston, Lloyd Nolan and Allen Jenkins are the central figures in the brawl caused by a price-cutting war between harvesting crews.

Store Keepers In Mining Towns See Business Drop

HARWICK, Pa., Dec. 5.—(INS)—Store operators in this Allegheny County mining community Wednesday reported a slump of 35 per cent in business with no immediate relief in sight. Alvin Milligan, general store proprietor, said almost all his business is on credit and since the coal strike it has dropped off to 65 per cent of normal. He said the miners feel confident the strike will be over after the first of the year, and to make ends meet the miners' wives are watching their pennies. Frank Plonick, a beer distributor reported a 40 per cent drop in his business, but Tony Carson, a tavern owner, said elbow bending has not suffered and business is up to par. A steel gear may weigh less than a quarter of an ounce for a fine watch, or 10,000 pounds for a big ship, but no matter what its size, the gear must be machined accurately to a 10,000th of an inch. Twice As Many Apples Stored HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—More than twice as many apples were in apple storage houses of Pennsylvania on November 1 this year as last, the State Department of Agriculture has announced following a Federal-State survey. Pear holding in Pennsylvania storage houses on November 1 amounted to 37,000 bushels compared with 25,000 a year earlier.

It has been proved that the larva of a clothes moth can crawl through an opening of only four thousandths of an inch, which is no wider than the thickness of a sheet of bond paper.

Suggest Women Send In Appeal For More Sugar

Twice in the past week The News has carried an editorial urging that an additional sugar stamp, good for five pounds be validated so that families may have some of the Christmas baking and candy we were accustomed to before rationing.

The editorials were written only after an investigation revealed the fact that 1—wholesalers are refusing carload lots of sugar because of heavy inventories, 2—retailers are stocked with sugar but few demands are received from customers, 3—most housewives are out of sugar ration stamps and cannot expect any more sugar until after Christmas, short of the black market.

Wholesale and retail dealers have endorsed the idea strongly, now the housewives are beginning to take up the idea. Today, some housewives suggested to The News that citizens voice their demand for an additional sugar ration stamp by writing to the congressman from this district and to the two United States senators.

This might spur needed action along. Citizens who are interested enough should write to the following men and addresses: U.S. Senator Joseph P. Gurney, Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C.; U.S. Senator Francis J. Myers, Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C.; Congressman Louis E. Graham, House Office Building, Washington, D.C.

When sugar was actually short and a large part of the available supply was needed for the war effort, Americans limited their sugar uses to the times and accepted rationing gracefully.

The situation is different now. There is sugar in the market but you can't get it without ration stamps. An additional ration stamp validated for the Christmas season would relieve heavy inventories and would give folks a chance for some old fashioned Christmas sweets.

If you want more sugar write or wire to your congressman or senators.

OFFERS "SEA GOING" DORMITORY FOR SIXTY PERSONS

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—(INS)—The city fathers were offered a sea-going "dormitory" today capable of providing living quarters for 60 persons.

Charles Goffine, operator of a motion picture theater, said he obtained a 125-foot long, double-decked barge and a 77-foot yacht at a U. S. marshal's sale, and while he can use the yacht, the city can have the barge, now moored at Bridgetown, N. J.

If the city can provide a mooring place for the barge, he said, 60 persons can take advantage of its facilities, which include 27 state-rooms, a recreation hall, galley, refrigeration, hot-water heat, showers and other sanitary fixtures.

Steel Worker Kills Estranged Wife With Pistol

Shooting Takes Place In Harrisburg
Restaurant; Woman Shot
Three Times

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—(INS)—Joshua Beatty, 45-year-old steel worker, was held on a charge of murder today after his estranged wife, Carrie, was shot three times while she attempted to escape from behind a restaurant counter in Harrisburg.

Police said Beatty claimed to have pumped a fourth shot into his wife as she lay on the floor but they were unable to find another wound. The victim, who was working as a waitress, was the mother of two children of high school age. The couple had been estranged for seven weeks.

According to police, Beatty called the victim's mother and said:

"I just shot your daughter."
Then he telephoned police headquarters and told them of the shooting, detectives said. He was waiting for the police when they arrived. A .38 calibre pistol was used.

Beatty was taken before Alderman George K. Richards and charged with murder and then placed in jail.

Another waitress, believed to be the only eyewitness, told police after recovering from hysterics, that Beatty often came to the restaurant and quarreled with his wife. He accused her of "running around with other men," police said the waitress told them. She was not identified.

Huge Supply Of Snowshoes Sold

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—(INS)—If snowshoes have anything to do with it, Americans are in for plenty of snow this winter.

Snowshoes—92,000 pairs of them—have been sold by the War Assets Administration, Frank L. McNamee, Philadelphia regional director, said today.

The government realized about 30 per cent recovery out of an original cost of some $977,000 for the lot, McNamee added.

He said the sale of "this vast amount" of snowshoes was "unusually high" since annual sales normally average about 5,000 pairs.

Completes Nursing Course In Cleveland

Miss Elverda Hallman of this city, recently completed a three year course in the theory and practice of nursing in the city hospital school of nursing at Cleveland, Ohio. Miss Hallman has just returned to the Cleveland hospital, after spending two weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Hallman of Locust street.

Because of her high efficiency rating, Miss Hallman's service was requested by the staff of the Cleveland hospital. She has accepted the position until she is ready to continue her studies for a B.S. degree in nursing.

First Reports Of Strike Violence

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 5.—(INS)—First reports of violence in the soft coal fields was made today when 20 automobile loads of miners attempted to halt operations at the Sunnyhill Mining company's strip operation near Oakdale, 30 miles from Pittsburgh.

State police reported the miners overturned a truckload of coal and threw a circular picket line around the mine.

ART GALLERY THIEVES GIVEN TWO YEAR TERMS

HOT SPRINGS, Ark., Dec. 5.—(INS)—One of the three Boston men accused of grand larceny and burglary in the $54,000 jewel robbery of the Hot Springs Esplanade art galleries was under a two-year prison sentence today.

George Coleman Foley, 38, who was arrested in the Arkansas resort city shortly after the robbery several weeks ago, pleaded guilty when arraigned yesterday.

Ben F. Tilley and John Maxwell also are accused. Tilley's case comes up December 16. He was arrested at Boston. Proprietor Sam H. Kirsch of the galleries put up Tilley's $25,000 bond.

President Will Make Appeal To Miners Direct

tempt in ignoring an order to halt the shutdown, conferred today with his counsel over the union's next move in its showdown battle with the government.

Situation Today

Meanwhile, this was the situation as the industrial paralysis caused by the coal walkout further crippled the nation's economy.

1. Lewis and the UMW faced a continuing penalty of a quarter million dollars each day the miners refuse to work.

2. Top government leaders discussed the possibility of prosecuting Lewis and the union under the Smith-Connally act, which prohibits strikes against the government.

3. The Railway Labor Executives Association offered a proposal for settlement of the coal dispute, at which the miners would resume work at once and President Truman would appoint a fact-finding board to report its recommendations in 30 days.

4. Violence flared at the Sunny Hill Mining Co. strip in Pennsylvania as 20 carloads of miners attempted to halt operations of 120 diggers who remained on the job.

5. Mine union officials denounced the federal court sentence and accused the government of attempting to destroy organized labor.

6. Wartime restrictions expected to have a severe effect on Christmas trade were in effect against movement of mail parcels and railroad freight, and an additional 25 per cent cut in rail passenger service on coal-burning lines was ordered for Sunday.

Lewis arrived at his union headquarters at 9:20 a. m. (EST) and ignored the "good morning" chorus from photographers clustered at the building entrance.

Chief Counsel Arrives

An hour later, AFL chief counsel Joseph A. Padway arrived to confer with Lewis. Padway asked at what time the defense would go into court to post bond and file an appeal. He replied:

"That's what I'm going upstairs to find out."

Meanwhile, the world waited to see whether Lewis would decree bankruptcy for the union rather than send the 400,000 soft coal miners back to work.

The union was fined three million 500 thousand dollars and Lewis personally $10,000 by D. C. Justice T. Alan Goldsborough yesterday for failing to order his soft coal miners back to work.

The justice issued this sentence after finding Lewis and the union guilty of contempt of court for failure to obey a restraining order directing him to cancel the walkout.

Face Continuing Penalty

Lewis and his union faced a continuing penalty of a quarter million dollars each day the workers fail to report at the pits.

The effect was world-wide because government orders ban the shipment of food to every nation. The walkout also cancels the shipment of soft coal to all other countries.

Attorneys for Lewis planned an immediate appeal from the sentence, presumably to the Supreme Court of the United States. He and the union were under orders to post bond by 3 p. m. EST at which time the justice would stay execution of his verdict pending outcome of the appeal.

Federal Judge Goldsborough estimated the pattern of punishment by fining the UMW three and one-half million dollars for the first 14 days of idleness by 400,000 miners. Union officials estimated the UMW treasury at approximately thirteen and one-half million dollars in cash, bonds and property investments. Lewis and the UMW stand in jeopardy of further heavy penalties.

In Further Financial Jeopardy

Judge Goldsborough placed Lewis and the union in further financial jeopardy by issuing a preliminary injunction continuing the court's order for withdrawal of a notice terminating the miners' wage contract with the government.

Lewis and his union have until Monday, December 9, to report to the court whether or not they have obeyed his newly issued temporary injunction to order the miners back to work. If the strike has not been called off the government can demand a declaratory judgment against him which would involve not only fines but also tremendous punitive damages equaling all the monetary losses suffered by the nation throughout the mine shutdown.

The justice could impose enormous damages against Lewis and his union under the Smith Connally act.

Would Require Trial

Lewis then can file a motion on Monday to dismiss the basic complaint or file an answer to it. In the latter case an immediate trial date would be set. On a motion to dismiss, the court might first hear argument. Then if the motion would file an answer and a trial would be held.

The preliminary injunction will remain in effect pending final determination of the legal battle.

An attorney connected with the case said the legal effect of the preliminary injunction is the same as the original temporary restraining order obtained by the government November 18 against the mine shutdown—each day Lewis ignores it he commits contempt.

Judge Goldsborough accepted the government's recommendation of a $250,000 fine for each day of the first two weeks of the coal walkout.

Great Injury Caused

The government prosecutor John P. Sonnett said "great injury" has been inflicted and "progressively greater injury" will be inflicted, so long as the walkout continues, on the 140 million American citizens "who depend substantially upon the production of bituminous coal for their welfare."

The government took the view, however, that a jail sentence for Lewis would accomplish nothing "toward restoration of coal production" and might impede the objective. Sonnett said a jail sentence might make Lewis "a martyr" in the eyes of labor.

Judge Goldsborough quickly accepted the government's recommendations despite impassioned defense declaration that the fines were "outrageous, inhuman and punitive."

Demoniac, Monstrous Thing
The jurist declared:
"This is not the act of a lone lawbreaker. But it is an evil, demoniac, monstrous thing."

Judge Goldsborough termed himself "a friend of labor," but asserted that "if acts of this kind can be successful the government would be overthrown."

Amidst the defense outcry against the punishment to be levied by the court, Lewis himself arose to speak in a sensational climax to a day of sensations. The union chieftain said bluntly:

"Sir, I wish to ask no mercy from your court."

Firemen Get Deer; One Right In County

Fireman Mike Russo Bags 12-Point Buck In Quarries Near Hillsville Wednesday

Two city firemen were successful in bagging deer, one of them being shot right in Lawrence county. Mike Russo, who is located at Central fire station, went out to Hillsville after work, Wednesday afternoon, in company with his cousin, Mike Bonnell, of Struthers, and bagged a nice 12-point buck which weighed 175 pounds in the old quarries between Edenburg and Hillsville. Bonnell had the misfortune to hit a 6-point buck as it was crossing the highway just beyond Edenburg two weeks ago, killing the deer and badly damaging his car. It was turned over to game authorities.

Fireman John Mangina, of Uber street who is also attached to Central Station got a four-point buck weighing around 125 pounds near Brookston, in Elk County. Hunting with him, were Mike Fazzone, of Huron avenue and Andy Ross, of the Butler road. It was shot at 11:15 a. m. or the opening day of the hunting season.

Mr. Leavitt has sold over 200 Fur Coats (official count obtainable upon request) since November 7th, 1946. That is unprecedented for any exclusive fur merchant in this part of the country. There must be a reason for that amount of fur business . . . and the reason is very simple. The quality is the very best obtainable, and the prices are the very lowest ever offered.

MR. LEAVITT PROMISES THAT EVERY FUR COAT SOLD FROM NOW TO THE FIRST OF THE YEAR WILL BE SOLD AT THE SAME PRICE OR LOWER THAN THOSE SOLD FROM NOVEMBER 7th TO THE PRESENT TIME

All coats are prominently displayed on racks and specially ticketed with "as advertised" tickets. Hundreds of women took advantage of these prices. You must see these coats! You must buy these coats! Whether you need a coat or not, take it home or lay it away. You must, in all fairness to yourselves, make a purchase of the greatest fur buys ever offered.

Salvation Army Christmas Work Is Starting Now

Yuletide Kettles Will Appear On Washington Street Saturday For Present Season

With 25 families already applying for Christmas baskets, the Salvation Army is getting its holiday work lined up.

Kettles, two of them, will go out on Washington street Saturday, and will be out every day until Christmas unless the weather is too bad. Envelopes for contributions for the "War Cry," Salvation Army magazine, were distributed to about 8,000 school children to take home to their parents on Tuesday and about 150 boxes for donations were placed on counters throughout the city.

To Provide Baskets
Money received in these contributions will pay for the Christmas baskets, 165 of which were sent out last year, and for toys, candy, an apple and an orange for about 500 children.

Toys are available through the Army Toy Shop in the headquarters, South Jefferson street, where mothers can select toys for their children.

Women's clubs, especially the Country Club Red Cross, have been making animal and dolls out of wool, and Miss Sara Snyder of Edinburg is making washable toys for infants. Each child gets about five toys, a half-pound of candy, an apple, and an orange.

Gifts to residents of the county home also include a copy of the "War Cry," candy and fruit.

Duca Abruzzi Club Selects Officers

Around Hollywood

By JOHN TODD
International News Service Staff Correspondent

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 5.—(INS)—Elsa Lanchester is firmly convinced she holds the formula for happy movieland marriages.

It's for husband and wife to follow their own careers independently, but with the husband's always on top.

Miss Lanchester knows a thing or two about what she speaks. She and Charles Laughton celebrate their 17th wedding anniversary next Feb. 10 and she hopes there'll be as many more.

"I don't think a marriage can work out very well if the wife's career becomes more important than the husband's," she said.

Then, with her brightest smile, she added:

"I don't mind at all Charles being tops in the family."

Right now they're due for a separation. Laughton, one of England's foremost actors, goes to New York City to do a play. His charming Missus will stay in Hollywood to continue her screen work and her nightly stage appearances at the Turnabout Theatre where she has long been a sensation.

"Now that we're making our home in Hollywood, I think that's the best way," she said, "we'll each do our own work."

"I don't mean to say I'd never do a picture with Charles, because under exactly the right circumstances I would. But it would have to be one in which we'd be perfect foils."

"I've tried it and I know. It doesn't work out very well. I remember what happened in several pictures in which we worked together."

"Charles is not a genius. He is a hard worker. He knows what he wants and he wants it exactly right. So, sometimes he will argue with the producer about certain things. When I was in a picture with him, I naturally would side with him. That would be fine, but, when it was all over they'd say, 'Charles, he's all right, but that wife of his!'"

Miss Lanchester laughter about it again as she talked to your reporter on the set of her newest movie effort, the Nelson Eddy production at Republic.

"Do you see what I mean?" she said as she left to lend some laughter to a scene.

Vera Ralston has abandoned her career as a skater. All she wants now is to become a versatile dramatic actress. She figures she can't be both. Vera, the Czechoslovakian beauty who became an American citizen last spring, has next year's plans all made.

"I'm going to make only three pictures next year. Two will be dramas and one will be a comedy."

"All I hope is that I have enough spare time to take a trip to Mexico."

The yak, beast of burden in Tibet, gets down icy mountain slopes by drawing its hoofs together and sliding always landing right side up.

JOBLESS PAY CLAIM DENIED BY BOARD

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—(INS)—Louisa A. Lord, of Ellwood City, was denied jobless benefits by the Unemployment Compensation Board of Review today on grounds that she "refused to accept referral to suitable work without good cause."

A former clerical worker for the Aetna Standard Steel Co., of Ellwood City, the claimant turned down an employment offer of another nature by the Shenango Pottery Co., of New Castle, the board said. She allegedly claimed she preferred clerical work and the type of job offered would keep her away from her home too long.

PORTLAND, Ore.—(INS)—Nobody wants to be mayor of Willamina, Ore. Not a single candidate has appeared with the deadline for filing near. The present mayor, also chief of the fire department, says he will not seek reelection.

NEW ORLEANS—(INS)—Nineteen inter-American centers in principal cities throughout the nation have joined in an invitation to Latin American visitors to place their export-import business through North American Ports.

Are You Underinsured?

Many home owners have found that they were 60% underinsured. A serious fire would involve them in a serious loss. Have you checked your coverage lately? It's the sensible thing to do.

sects In Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO.—(INS)—An additional shipment of 350 flame-throwers is being rushed from the United States to aid in combatting the grasshopper hordes which have been devastating Brazilian farm-lands.

Millions of dollars of damage have been caused by the insect clouds, which for several weeks have been moving slowly northward from the Argentine and Uruguayan borders. Some have been reported in recent days in the state of Rio de Janeiro.

Most extensive damage has been caused in the states of Santa Catarina, Sao Paulo, farm centers of Brazil.

60,000 Tons Destroyed
One report from the towns of Campos Novos, Cacador and Porto União in the state of Sao Paulo stated that 120,000 acres of planted wheat had been completely destroyed with a loss of estimated 60,000 tons of wheat harvest. The severity of this loss was emphasized by the present wheat crisis in Brazil, which has led to the strictest rationing and mixture of wheat flour with numerous substitutes.

The giant insects, which measure 6 to 8 inches, have been fought with Army flame-throwers and poison bombs dropped from low-flying planes. Thus far these weapons have served only to divert the grasshoppers from the more valuable farmlands.

All facilities of the Ministry of Agriculture have been mobilized in the battle, and a special credit of one million dollars has been opened for purchase of more flame-throwers and large quantities of powerful insecticide in the United States.

SCOTT'S SCRAP BOOK

By R J SCOTT

IN THE OPEN

November, the wind-month of the Anglo-Saxons, reached deep into his weather pocket and came up with a superb grand finale. The order of the day for nearly a week had been brilliant, brisk mornings, moving into balmy afternoons and closing with magnificent late evening sky shows, featuring Orion, veteran trouper of the midnight circuit. Facing his final day, the old fellow outdid himself and passed on in a blaze of glorious Fall sunshine, his fair weather boots on till the end.

A songsparrow chanted in the crabapple copse behind the house as I left for the morning's stint in the workaday world. By noon I was a free man once again, with November in the blood and the sun yet four hours high.

A yellow butterfly, probably one of the dead weeds growth in the next field as I set out to enjoy the last November day. Later on I saw another little fellow, this time a white one with darker wing edgings. Small flying insects were abroad and on a pond far down the valley one lone water strider was still skating around, probably doing his Christmas shopping.

Emergency Stockpiles

It is during these days the countryman notes how the wayside fruit crop has fared, building emergency stockpiles for the use of small furred and feathered folk when deep snows blanket the feeding grounds. Just inside the thicket edging the abandoned fields below the house I came across a scrubby little sheepberry tree, nearly shaded out by more aggressive neighbors. Despite the handicaps the little tree had hung its upper branches full of the clusters of dark blue oval drupes, each on a red stem. If untouched in the meantime, these sweetish fruits will hang on until next March, when returning robins will find them quite satisfying provender.

Here and there in the underbrush the empty husks of wild balsam apple hung across the bushes which this cousin to the cucumber flag chosen to clamber over. I doubt if any bird can handle the four rather large seeds of this prickly "apple," but they have all the earmarks of being good chipmunk food. Poke berries hung in great purplish-black clusters, so heavy they had broken over the dead stalks and hung down just about high enough to clear the drifts and serve as dessert to snowbound rabbits.

Fox Grapes Ready

Farther down the valley I came to the grape "arbors," where a station of fox grape has set great stores of the tart seedy fruits among the branches of the trees which play host to these vines. Scarlet fruits of the wahoo and the purple nightshade were conspicuous, offering a colorful repast to migrant birds in exchange for transporting their seeds, via the alimentary canal, to other valleys far distant.

I note that the common black nightshade has sprung up in my potato rows. This is an unpleasant cousin to the potato, with small white flowers and clusters of round, shiny-black berries which are said to be quite poisonous. This is a new arrival in our weed collection, having moved in with a great mass of pigweed in the barnyard litter we have been using as compost.

I was pleased to come across the abandoned host of a great-crested flycatcher in the scrub growth along the wooded hillside. The structure was hardly more than eight feet off the ground in the forks of a small sapling. This bird has the peculiar habit of using cast-off snake skins in constructing its nest. If such skins are not available it will take any reasonable facsimile that comes to hand, and in this particular instance had picked up a rather large cellophane container, like a cigar wrapper, and had woven it into the foundation of its woodland nursery.

Another woodland nest caught my eye on this same hillside. It was a smaller, more compact home than the flycatcher's, and was a masterpiece of architecture, set firmly in the scrubby twigs of a small sapling. I assume it to have been the work of one of the vireos.

Unveil Bird's Nests

When the revealing hand of late Fall has unveiled the trees on our home acreage we are always surprised at the number of birds' nests of whose existence we were entirely unaware during the Summer. Of course we had seen the phoebes young on the ledge beneath our back porch, and we knew where the starlings were nesting in the hole in the apple tree. We had also found the catbird's rather careless structure in the crabapples behind the house, and had watched the house wrens carry a bushel or so of twigs into the wren box.

But it was not until we pruned the climbing roses along the fence that we came across the three sparrows' nests, carefully lined with horsehair by clipping sparrows. And now that the leaves are gone I see that we had robins in one of the poplars and in the large elm, while amoriole's basket is also now revealed swinging gracefully from the far tip of one of the drooping poplar branches.

High up in another elm I note a sizeable nest, but am at a loss to name the late occupant. The swifts made no secret of their nests in our chimney, rousing my wife's ire each cleaning day when she found a fresh batch of debris in the fireplace.

Tourist Swarm Invades Paris

Hotel Space At Premium As French
Capital Again Is Mecca
Of Travellers

PARIS.—(INS)—In a less hostile sense than when the Germans did it, Paris today is suffering a foreign invasion and occupation.

The occupation forces are diplomats, delegations, business men and travellers. They have completely taken up the hotel space of Paris, whose hotels are more numerous than any other capital in the world.

Foreign correspondents returning to Paris, and recalling the post-liberation days when the Scribe Hotel was open to the press of the world, are deeply disappointed to be told there is not even a cubicle in the attic available. Rooms in such hotels as the Scribe, the Grand, the Meurice, the Plaza-Athene and the George V are booked until Christmas.

Asks For Room

During the later days of the Peace Conference a member of the Greek delegation arrived in Paris and asked a taxi man to find him a hotel room. The driver shrugged his shoulders, declared it was impossible, but was persuaded to make a try.

A hotel room was found, but the next morning the Greek delegate was advised that his bill would be in excess of the normal amount for visitors at that establishment, because he had remained the whole night. Normally guests remain for a shorter period of time. The gentleman was quite content to pay the sum required, rather than to engage in the battle of the Boulevards to find another room.

NAMED F. C. C. CHAIRMAN
WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(INS)—President Truman named Charles E. Denny, Jr., as chairman of the Federal Communications Commission. Denny has been acting chairman since Paul A. Porter moved over to head OPA, an office from which he has now resigned.

The Philippine Islands were named the Filipinas about 1523, in honor of Prince Philip, of Spain.

We're trying to make it go 'round

We're in an embarrassing position, too. There just isn't enough Climalene to go around.

The demand is greater than ever, and we're working our heads off to catch up with it.

You see, shortages of raw materials stopped production completely for several months and all the grocers and warehouse stocks were cleaned out. It was hard on everyone—you, your grocer, and the folks here at Climalene headquarters.

Now that Climalene is in production again, we are doing our best to distribute all we can make as fairly as possible. You should be able to get it more often from now on—be sure to keep asking.

Will Women Get Posts In Cabinet?

Capitol Hill Speculating On Appointments To Be Made By Gov.-Elect Duff

OTHER NEWS OF STATE AFFAIRS

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—(INS)—Capitol Hill has been speculating whether Governor-elect James H. Duff would bow to the demands of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women for its share of political spoils as a result of the smashing GOP victory November 5. The council has demanded appointments to high state posts. A resolution adopted during the 24th annual convention called for the appointment of "qualified women" to cabinet posts, as deputies in cabinet offices, to judicial vacancies, to the liquor control, parole and industrial boards and the Public Utility Commission.

Although Duff has made no announcements, there have been reports that he may name some women to top state posts. There has been some speculation as to whether Duff would retain Miss S. M. R. O'Hara of Wilkes-Barre, present secretary of the commonwealth during the term of ex-Gov. Arthur H. James. One prominent Republican woman mentioned as a possible appointee to a high state post is Mrs. Hannah Durham, vice-president of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women.

The Pennsylvania Economy League, Inc., has issued a summary of its services to state, county and local governments and school districts. "The conflict of demands for more government service on one hand, and for reduction of tax burdens on the other, is the basis for much of the league's work," the league reported. "It assists public officials faced with this conflict. This is done by endeavoring to find methods for providing better services at the same, or lower, costs."

A survey has shown that 27 of the 203 members of the state house of representatives elected November 5 were attorneys. Men and women representing more than 50 different occupations and professions will sit in the lower chamber next year. A roster of house members compiled by Chief Clerk William E. Habbyschaw showed that only two incumbents listed their professions as "legislators." They were Rep. Francis Worley (R) Adams, and Rep. John M. Reilly (D) Montour. Two women will hold seats in the house during the 1947 session. They are Mrs. Jeanette M. Dye, Sandy Lake Republican, incumbent, and Henrietta C. McCosker, a Philadelphia Republican.

The State Planning Board has issued a small booklet reporting on Pennsylvania's forest resources. The booklet enunciates a 10-point program for the development of a state forest program. It included an intensified research program concerning the utilization of forest products and the reduction of waste in sawmill and lumbering operations; an increase in the number of farm foresters; organization of local forest-marketing pools; establishment of annual educational camps for farm boys and adults; continued enforcement of compulsory planting and stabilization of stippings in coal mine operations; extension of county and community forests.

Workmen at the state capitol have started to clean the house and senate sergeant-at-arms offices in preparation for the General Assembly. Piles of old bills from the 1945 session have been cleared out of the rooms which were given a thorough cleaning. House and senate committee rooms were cleaned recently in preparation for the legislative meeting. The house chamber has been placed in order although additional work will be required in the upper chamber.

Prospectors Use Helicopters In Search For Ores

With Instruments In Nose Of Plane Modern Prospectors Now Seek Out Metal

SUDBURY, Ont., Dec. 5.—(INS)—It may seem odd to go up into the air to find out what's under the ground—but that's exactly what a prospecting expedition has done in this rich mining region with such success as to revolutionize the search for hidden minerals.

Using a helicopter made available through the cooperation of the Bell Aircraft Corporation, and sensitive magnetic instruments similar to the doodlebug, our flyers used to spy out U-boats beneath the waves, these supermodern prospectors made mining areas of Ontario and Quebec give up their secrets in a fraction of the time required by old-fashioned ground surveys.

Head of the Prospecting Group is Dr. Hans Lundberg, vice-president of the Lundberg-Ryan Air Exploration Company of Toronto.

Magnetic surveys on the ground area are an old story; they have been carried out successfully for many years to show not only the outlines of mineral and oil deposits but their depth in the ground. But magnetic surveys on the ground are a tough job when the country is wild and underbrush and trees must be cleared before prospecting parties can move in.

Dr. Lundberg saw in the helicopter an answer to his problem because of the helicopter's ability to fly low with perfect safety, hovering over a spot when necessary, and taking off and landing on the proverbial dime.

With his special magnetic instruments mounted in the nose of one of the Bell machines, he first put his idea to test this summer in this vicinity by surveying from the air mining areas already surveyed laboriously on the ground.

Prayer Group Has Morning Meeting

Members of the Tuesday morning prayer group of the United Presbyterian churches of this city and community met Tuesday morning, at 10:30, in the Second U. P. church.

Mrs. George Sherman of Third U. P. church, was devotional leader, and Mrs. Roy Conway of the Highland U. P. church gave the prayer item.

The topic was "Mountain Missions." Mrs. D. L. Ferguson and Mrs. Irvine Bell read letters from missionaries on the field.

The group will meet again in the Third U. P. church, Tuesday evening, January 7.

MANY NEVER SUSPECT CAUSE OF BACKACHES

This Old Treatment Often Brings Happy Relief

Many sufferers relieve nagging backache quickly, once they discover that the real cause of their trouble may be tired kidneys.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking the excess acids and waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about a pint a day.

When disorder of kidney function permits poisonous matter to remain in your blood, it may cause nagging backache, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pep and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, a stimulant diuretic, used successfully for millions for over 40 years. Doan's give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from your blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Potato Crop Is State's Largest

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—The year 1946 will go down in Pennsylvania agricultural history as the "biggest potato year ever known in the state". State Secretary of Agriculture Miles Horst declared following a Federal-State survey as of November 1 which gave preliminary estimates of 1946 yield and production.

Favorable weather in October gave a final sizing to the tubers. This, together with constant spraying with fungicides by commercial growers during the growing season and additional use of DDT which kept down insect damage, brought an all-time high state average yield per acre of 152 bushels, 7 more than the previous record of 145 in 1934.

Secretary Horst said a number of growers have reported yield in excess of 700 bushels to the acre.

Cops Open Juke Box Canteen In Police Station

CLEVELAND.—(INS)—A police station with juke music blaring forth from a juke box is just the thing to solve the teen-age problem.

That is what the blue-uniformed boys at Cleveland's sixth precinct police station have discovered. They found it was much more simple to let the juveniles have a bang-up time while under their watchful eye than it was to let them bang up the town under anybody else's eye.

Top Floor
The whole top floor of the three-story station once used as offices for civilian defense workers, has been taken over by the youngsters and completely redecorated. A modern soda bar is their pride and joy.

The juke-box juveniles run the canteen, as they call it, without outside interference. Only those with printed membership cards are permitted to enter juvenile kingdom, where juve and coke reign.

FIRE AT SCRANTON
SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 5.—(INS)—Damage was estimated at $100,000 Wednesday as the result of a general alarm fire which destroyed four homes and two lumber yards at Scranton.

Two women whose homes were leveled were overcome by smoke and removed to hospitals.

SWIFT COMPANY, UNION AGREE ON CONTRACT TERMS

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—(INS)—The negotiation of a new contract between Swift & Co. and AFL meat cutters and butchers workmen was announced by a spokesman for Swift.

The announcement brought optimism that a threatened nationwide packinghouse workers' strike would be averted.

Paul Admonishes The Churches

Highlights On The Sunday School Lesson

Paul's epistle to the Romans.

"Teach me Thy way, Jehovah."—Psalm 27:11.

By NEWMAN CAMPBELL

(The International Uniform Lesson on the above topic for Dec. 8 is I Cor. 6:9-10; 11:17-27; Romans 14:13-14; Eph. 5:18-21, the Memory Verse being Psalm 27:11, "Teach me Thy way, Jehovah.")

Paul, in founding churches in different parts of the then known world, kept in touch with them all his life, and frequently wrote to them letters of affection, and sometimes of reproach when he heard that things were not going well with them.

Just as today, people in Paul's time would join the church, profess the doctrine Paul set forth, but fail to live the type of life that could in any sense be called moral. They fought, or at least disagreed, among themselves, as do many church members today, said to say. Their private lives were anything but Christian, and even the observation of the Lord's supper gave them the excuse for drunkenness and other sins.

Advice and counsel were badly needed, and Paul gave it through his letters, lovingly, but often sternly, too, when he felt occasion demanded. His first epistle to the Corinthians is thought to have been written in A. D. 59. He says, "Know ye not that the unrighteous shall not inherit the kingdom of God? Nor thieves, nor covetous, nor drunkards, nor revilers, nor extortioners, shall inherit the kingdom of God."

If you would happily inherit this kingdom, you must live a life of righteousness. Even children can understand that they must not cheat, in school nor on the playground. They must be kind to one another, honest, not envious.

Men have been known to give generously to the support of one of Christ's churches, and demand money even to poor folk of their own congregation. This is not Christian conduct; it is what is meant by an "extortioner."

Men have been known to give generously to the support of one of Christ's churches, and demand excessive interest when they lend money even to poor folk of their own congregation. This is not Christian conduct; it is what is meant by an "extortioner."

Church Is Reproved In the 11th chapter of this same letter he evidently refers to reports of the conduct of the church that is far from pleasing, and he reproves them. "When ye come together in the church I hear that there is division among you, and I partly believe it."

When they were together in one place, he writes, "this is not to eat the Lord's supper. For in eating every one taketh before other his own supper; and one is hungry, and another is drunken."

They were evidently divided into cliques, each group of a certain "set" eating together, and taking no notice of those who were not in their group, even if they went hungry. Also some drank too much and became drunk. "What shall I say unto you? shall I praise you in this? I praise you not."

The sacrament which Paul taught to these disciples he had from the Lord Jesus Christ, he wrote. "That the Lord Jesus the same night in which He was betrayed took bread; and when He had given thanks, He brake it, and said, Take, eat; this is My body, which is broken for you; do this in remembrance of Me."

"After the same manner He took the cup, when He had supped, saying, This cup is the new testament in My blood; this do ye as oft as ye drink it, in remembrance of Me."

Remembering this scene on the last night of Jesus' life on earth, the sadness with which He spoke, knowing that on the morrow He would suffer the agony of death, and wishing to be remembered by these who had shared the last years of His life on earth. How could one partake of this sacrament in lightness of heart or, even worse, with selfishness, rudeness and drunkenness?

Guilty Of Lord's Blood

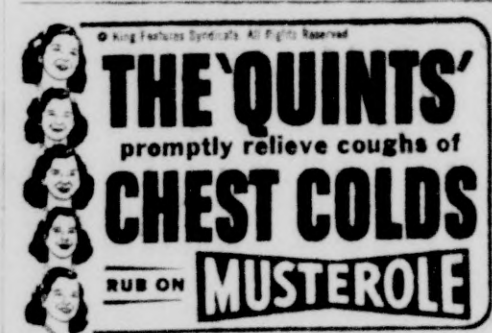

"Wherefore whosoever shall eat this bread, and drink this cup of the Lord, unworthily, shall be guilty of the body and blood of the Lord." This refers to the way in which ancient customs were ratified in the East. "A victim was slain and the blood sprinkled upon the contracting parties, by which they were solemnly bound to their mutual engagements," as referred to in Exodus.

The letter to the Romans was written not much later than Corinthians, and in this letter Paul writes, "Let us walk honestly, as in the day; not in rioting and drunkenness, not in strife and envying. But put ye on the Lord Jesus Christ, and make not provision for the flesh to fulfill the lusts thereof."

As a prisoner in Rome Paul wrote to the Ephesians, again reminding them not to be drunk with wine, but to be filled with the Spirit, speaking to yourselves in psalms and hymns and spiritual songs, singing and making melody in your heart to the Lord.

We are told that in the early church responsive hymn singing was used. Today Christians sing hymns together in church, and nothing is more helpful in putting one in the mood for worship and praise. Making such harmony together promotes harmony of spirit. (Distributed by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

Probe Delay In Pipelines Sale

WASHINGTON, Dec. 5.—(INS)—War Assets Administrator Littlejohn faced close questioning today from the House Surplus Property committee on the government's delay in selling the Big and Little Inch petroleum pipelines.

Rep. Slaughter (D-Mo., committee chairman) expressed the view to reporters that "if these pipelines had been sold some months ago, we would be in a better position to face the present emergency."

The two 1500-mile conduits, which extend from Texas to the Philadelphia-New York area, are now being leased temporarily to the Tennessee Gas and Transmission Co. for natural gas in an effort to alleviate the fuel shortage.

However, the question of their permanent disposal is still under consideration by the WAA, which several weeks ago rejected all 16 bids from petroleum and gas interests for their purchase.

Temporary lease of the wartime properties was arranged by the Interior department, custodian of most of the nation's coal mines, which is locked in a dispute with John L. Lewis and the United Mine Workers of America.

Duff Undecided On Cabinet Posts

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—(INS)—Governor-Elect James H. Duff was still undecided today about his cabinet appointments.

Tanned from a two and one-half week Florida vacation, Duff returned to his attorney general's post yesterday and told newsmen, "I haven't made a single appointment so far, even in my own mind."

The sugar beet belongs to the same family as the garden beet and the mangel-wurzel.

Order Probe In Domestic's Death

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—(INS)—A thorough investigation into the death of Miss Josephine Marra, 29, a domestic, was ordered today by police.

A routine search, police said, located a 16-year-old colored boy who admitted firing the shot which fatally wounded Miss Marra. He told police he was firing a 22 rifle at "electric light bulbs and things" when Miss Marra was wounded.

Authorities were exercised over what happened to Miss Marra after she was shot.

Police said that apparently two doctors had heard her complaint that she was ill with a violent pain in her stomach but that neither examined her. She finally was taken to Cumberland hospital after walking nine blocks to her home. It was found that she was suffering from a gunshot wound. Hospital physicians were unable to save her as the wounds had been suffered nearly four hours earlier. Both doctors and hospital attendants were to be questioned by police.

An average of 13 months is the time required for sugar cane to reach maturity.

Two Deer Killed Near Harlansburg

Bill Studebaker and George Book, both of R. D. 3, Slippery Rock, join the nimrods who have bagged their deer in Lawrence county, the kills occurring Tuesday morning in the vicinity of Harlansburg.

Mr. Studebaker dropped a seven-point buck weighing 130 pounds on the L. C. Johns farm at 11:30 a. m. while Book bagged his about 400 yards away an hour earlier. The latter animal weighed 135 pounds and had eight points.

At the December meeting of the K. Pulaski club, new officers were selected to guide the club activities through the new year.

Officers chosen are: President, John Snierek Jr.; vice president, Frank Jendryak; recording secretary, John F. Stodolack; financial secretary, Casimir Mateja; treasurer, Joseph Telesz; trustees, Adam Zilinski, Frank Kucharski, Frank Mateja, color bearer, Casimir Wajtonicz, and inside guard, Alex Mazur.

Kiwanis Hears Of Advertising

Illustrated Talk On Why
Advertising Pays Told
By Specialists Wednesday

DIRECTOR OF ART ILLUSTRATES TALK

New Castle Kiwanians enjoyed an unique, but withal an interesting program at their noon luncheon meeting in The Castleton Wednesday noon, when they were addressed by Drex Jones, account executive of the Meek and Thomas Advertising Agency of Youngstown. Mr. Jones was assisted in his talk by E. A. Montgomery, art director, who illustrated the remarks of his colleague by illustrating the various points with crayon pictures.

Advertising, Mr. Jones defined, is a mass vehicle of communication, wherein the advertiser seeks to sell to a large group of people, what the individual salesman would like to sell to one.

Why one should advertise was illustrated by recalling the names of people who made the headlines in 1932, and as late as 1937, but who are virtually forgotten today, because their names are no longer before the public. The starting of an advertising campaign, he pointed out, is not the answer to one's problem. It not only must be kept up, but the advertiser must have a product that is worth advertising.

New Buyers Daily
He illustrated this by the fact that every year two million people are born who never saw an elephant. When one walks down the street in a parade, four out of five people will say, "that's the same old elephant," but one new one, who never saw it before, will be entranced.

Advertising, he asserted, has built a better America. It has shown the housewife how to save many steps, introduced better refrigeration in her kitchen, sanitary package of her foods, and created a higher standard of living by bringing to her attention new devices for the home, and creating a desire to have them.

Back on the 18th of April, in '75 two men rode out from Boston to alarm the populace, he recalled, but today, the name of only one of them is known to countless people.

because Longfellow immortalized one of them in his poem, "Paul Revere's Ride." The name of the other, he stated, is known only to a few historians.

The principle reason people read advertisements, he stated was first to gain new ideas; second, because they are accustomed to the advertiser, and third, they are in the market to buy a certain product.

In order to be valuable, the advertiser must address the right message to the right people.

Emulation and envy, he stated in conclusion, are ever at work in the world. What is good and great in the world becomes recognized and widely advertised. What is mediocre soon falls by the wayside.

Report was made on the Officer's Training School, conducted in Ellwood City Tuesday evening, with Lt. Governor-Elect Ellis Bell, of Division Two, presiding. Past district governor, Tom Paden, spoke on the duties of directors; Russell Sewall, of New Wilmington, on conducting meetings; Ellis Love, of Butler, on the duties of the secretary; Lt. Governor Cliff Holland, of Beaver, on the duties of the president, and Dr. H. E. Helms, on the international setup.

Patients Flood Salisbury, Md. General Hospital

SALISBURY, Md., Dec. 5.—(INS)—Doctors and nurses at the Peninsula General hospital were stumbling over patients wherever they turned today as the institution entered a unique "state of emergency."

The hospital, serving residents within a 100-mile radius of the Delmarva peninsula, has an all-time high of 230 patients, nearly 100 more than capacity.

Supt. Brady J. Dayton appealed to the hospital's 53 associated physicians to send none but emergency cases for confinement.

There are 80 patients—40 mothers and 40 infants—in the maternity ward alone, and seven of the mothers have beds in the hallways.

"I'm afraid to look ahead to January," Dayton said. He explained that December, according to statistics, is the least pressing month in American hospitals.

WARN ON SEPTIC TANKS

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—(INS)—Rural residents were warned today by the sanitary water board that improperly installed septic tanks could permit pollution of waterways.

"If the tanks and the underground drain tile lines are not properly installed or the tanks are improperly constructed, trouble is sure to result and cause pollution of streams," the board said.

Dr. E. V. Clements Talks On India At Westminster

NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 5.—Dr. E. V. Clements, a United Presbyterian missionary to India, told of the internal disturbances of that country at the Wednesday chapel services at Westminster college.

Dr. Clements explained the part that religion is playing in the divisions within the country. He frankly stated he could not see what the outcome will be but expressed the opinion that education will do much to improve the conditions of the lower classes.

Dr. Clements, a graduate of Westminster with the class of 1909, was granted in absentia an honorary doctorate degree at last spring's commencement.

Lawrence County Has 357 Students At Westminster

NEW WILMINGTON, Dec. 5.—Lawrence county, with 357 students, leads by a clear margin the 32 Pennsylvania counties which are represented in this year's record enrollment of 1315 at Westminster College.

Allegheny county, which has frequently led the parade in number of students, is second with 253 while Mercer county has maintained its third position with 194.

Other counties with more than 20 enrolled are: Westmoreland, 53; Washington, 37; Butler, 36; Erie, 24; Beaver, 30, and Armstrong, 22.

Fifteen states the District of Columbia and Canada are represented. Next to Pennsylvania with 1,119 students is Ohio with 43, fifty-four are from New York. The most distant state represented is Nebraska.

Rev. R. D. Bomer Conducts Services

Evangelistic services which opened Monday evening at Ellport U. P. Chapel will continue every evening, with the exception of Saturday, until Sunday evening, December 15. Meetings begin at 7:30 o'clock at the chapel, of which Rev. C. S. Harper is minister.

Rev. R. D. Bomer, former pastor of Bethel U. B. church at this city, who is now serving Galatia U. B. church, North Baltimore, O., near Bowling Green, is conducting this special series of meetings. Appropriate music is being furnished by Mrs. R. D. Bomer, accompanist.

It took 80,000 miles of steel to make the two cables which support the load carried by the Golden Gate bridge at San Francisco, the longest suspension span in the world.

LONG-RANGE PLANNING IN FORESTS ADVOCATED

Because of the heavy cutting program during wartime, we need to look to the future in regard to likely timber requirements.

The use of wood materials, even before the war, has been steadily increasing. Experiment foresters are not alarmed over any possibility of a woods famine, but they point out that if cuttings continue at the present rate there will be less for harvesting in twenty years than at the present time.

Woodlands are an important part of the economy of any nation, and can be of strategic significance. Wood-lot owners should remember that promising young growth needs protection in cutting operations, and that thinning and culling be practiced where needed.

Legislature Will Be Well Guarded

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 5.—(INS)—The 1947 New Jersey General Assembly will be well guarded when it gets underway on January 14.

The house steering committee today authorized a sergeant-at-arms with 11 deputies to guard the various doors to the lawmaking chamber during the session.

The authorization was contained in a list of patronage which will total $21,650 in salaries.

The jobs include, in addition to the assistant sergeant-at-arms, committee clerks, pages, bill clerks, and assistants and the executive staff, including the house clerk, secretary to the speaker, clerk to the majority leader, clerk to the minority leader and assistant secretary to the speaker.

Mother, It Is a Scientific Fact YOUR CHILD'S RESISTANCE to WINTER ILLS CAN BE MAINTAINED with WONDER BREAD!

Because Wonder Bread Contains 8 Body-Building Elements That Help Build Up Naturally Their Resistance To Winter Ills

The foundation of good health is good nutrition. And the foundation of good nutrition is good food.

That is why Wonder Bread can help maintain your child's resistance to winter ills. Because Wonder Bread gives to your child 8 of the body-building elements that Nature uses to build a good health foundation.

Give your child Wonder Bread and other good nourishing foods. See that he gets fresh air, exercise and plenty of sleep. These are the things that make for good resistance.

And your child will love Wonder Bread. Because it tastes so good. So good because so fresh.

For Wonder Bread is doubly fresh. Fresh when you buy it and fresh when you eat it.

Because Wonder Bread is slow-baked—baked 13% longer than many ordinary kinds for lasting freshness.

So get nourishing doubly fresh Wonder Bread from your grocer today. And see that your child gets plenty of Wonder Bread this winter.

High School Choir Has Full Schedule Of Programs Ahead

Thursday morning's program at Franklin junior high school opened the Christmas season for the New Castle high school a cappella choir.

Under the direction of Robert A. Duff, the other holiday appearances of the choir will be at Epworth Methodist church Sunday evening at 7:45; Washington junior high school Thursday morning, December 12, at 9 o'clock; Friday, December 13, at the senior high school assembly.

Sunday evening, December 15, on the Community Hour at 7 o'clock; Monday, December 16, at the 1 o'clock Rotary club luncheon in The Castleton; Wednesday evening, December 19, at 8:15 on the school broadcast; and Friday, December 20, in the school assembly.

The alumni choir, known as the New Castle Symphonic choir, which now has an enrollment of 90 and an average attendance of 55, will open a series of carol singing programs on the Public Square on Monday evening at 7:30.

Will Fly Dairy Farmer To N. Y. For Dedication

STARRUCCA, Pa., Dec. 5.—(INS)—Next Tuesday will be a busy day for Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Leet, of Starrucca.

Activities scheduled for the Leets' farm home Tuesday morning include the landing of a helicopter and a visit from a typical New York City family who will breakfast with them.

Leet has been selected as the member of the Dairymen's League Cooperative Association to dedicate the league's big, new milk plant in the heart of New York City at 11:00 a.m. on Tuesday. He will go to New York City for the dedication program.

A "typical" New York City family will visit the Leets that morning for breakfast and to observe first-hand how milk is produced on a farm. A helicopter will land on the farm after milking is over and take Mr. and Mrs. Leet and a can of their milk to the league plant at nearby Honesdale where it will be weighed and tested.

The helicopter is then scheduled, weather permitting, to fly them on to New York City where it will land on or near the Madison plant. Their arrival will be the signal

Denies Statement That Huge Atomic Bomb Being Made

PARIS, Dec. 5.—(INS)—Senator Brien McMahon, (D) Conn., today condemned as "a horrible piece of irresponsible reporting" a London newspaper story which quoted him as saying the United States is making atom bombs 600 times more powerful than those dropped on Japan.

The weekly Reynolds News had declared that McMahon, author of legislation on atomic energy supervision, made his purported statement at a secret meeting of British members of parliament.

McMahon declared: "Speaking to a group of 150 in London I said what had been said on 60 platforms at home, namely that the Senate atomic energy committee had been told by scientists that an atom bomb X-times as big—maybe a 600, maybe 800—could be made."

"But to say that the United States is making such a bomb now is utterly preposterous."

Arrangements have been made for Mr. and Mrs. Leet to appear on a television program in New York City the night of December 10.

Given Radiator Company Position

The appointment of R. L. Brooks as Assistant Superintendent, City and County Plant, The National Radiator Company, was announced today by James F. Thomas, Manager of Company Division.

Mr. Brooks has had broad and diversified experience in the industrial field, both in tool design and production. During the war he was engaged in industrial engineering on numerous war contracts with concerns producing aircraft and aircraft equipment.

GOVERNOR URGES PUBLIC SUPPORT OF SEAL CAMPAIGN

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—(INS)—Pennsylvanians were urged Wednesday by Gov. Edward Martin to support the annual Christmas Seal drive to combat tuberculosis.

"Once more the holiday season brings to our attention the message of the Christmas Seal—a message which brings renewed hope for a world freed from the scourge of tuberculosis," the governor stated.

"I urge the citizens of Pennsylvania to give full support to the Christmas Seal sale as one means of helping in the effort to eradicate this communicable but unnecessary disease," he said.

COMMERCE BODY TO SKETCH POLICY

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—(INS)—The State Chamber of Commerce's legislative policies were slated yesterday to be outlined December 19 during a meeting of the board of directors at Harrisburg.

The chamber's stand on legislative issues during the 1947 session of the General Assembly will be based on recommendations made by its sub-committees, according to a spokesman.

Seven Sons Who Served In War Gather At Home Reunion Here

After raising a family of eight newboys and leaving seven of them to Uncle Sam for active duty in the armed forces during the war, Mr. and Mrs. Edward F. Doran, 942 Marshall avenue, enjoyed the first family reunion of all immediate members in five years, during the past week.

Completing the family circle with his arrival, Cpl. David Doran, age 22, has received his honorable discharge after serving three and one-half years as an anti-aircraft spotter in the army air force with 25 months overseas duty in Germany.

He wears three battle stars, good conduct medal and occupation of Europe ribbon. His battery also received a presidential citation.

Sgt. Francis J. Doran, age 35, served in the 87th chemical mortar battalion of the U. S. army for two years and ten months active duty overseas. He received five battle stars, bronze arrowhead, victory medal, American theater and ETO ribbons. He participated on D-Day in Normandy, was active in the battle of France, Rhineland, battle of the bulge and served in the Ardennes.

Cpl. John L. Doran, aged 29, was in the 79th division of the infantry for three years and four months in the U. S. army with 20 months overseas. He received the infantry badge, good conduct medal, four battle stars with ETO ribbon, served in Normandy, Rhineland, D-Day and central Europe.

Regis Paul Doran, age 24, gunners mate 3-c, has three years in the U. S. navy with 22 months overseas. He was awarded the purple heart, two battle stars, good conduct medal, ETO, Asiatic theater and African theater ribbons.

William L. Doran, age 19, has six months service as an O. S. seaman with U. S. merchant marine in the Pacific and American theaters.

Mailboxes On Corner Of Washington, Mill Are Most Often Used

Many and many a year ago, the most-used mailbox in New Castle was in front of the Post Office building then on the corner of Mercer and North streets . . . but that isn't true anymore.

Since that Post Office has been closed, the one outside the new building on the Public Square isn't being worn out very quickly. If people get that far, most of them figure they might as well go on inside, says Postmaster Bill Hana.

But not many of them get that far. Shopping up-town, they save themselves by using the boxes on two of the corners of Mill and Washington streets. Just wait till they are stuffed with Christmas cards . . . sometimes a letter gets halfway in the slot and no further. The boxes are definitely used.

WAA Radios Boon To Chicken Farmer

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—(INS)—For the chicken farmer a boon, for the war assets administration a bouquet.

In its lot of unloading war surplus, WAA has had to configure up ingenious uses for war materials in peacetime pursuits. The latest—conversion of a radio communication disruptor to "chicken foiler."

Regional Director Frank L. McNamee, said the WAA was stumped with what to do with a large supply of feracount clocks, a timing device used during the war to snarl enemy radio communications. Then someone thought of using them to turn on lights in hen houses.

The clock can be regulated, the WAA said, to turn the lights on several hours before daylight and turn them out late winter nights. Thus winter egg production can be kept close to summer output.

WOMEN CHATTER ON PARTY LINE WHILE MAN DIES

LAKE CITY, Wash., Dec. 5.—(INS)—Women's chatter on a party line telephone was considered a possible factor today in the death of Hewlett Prince, Lake City meat trader.

When the 70-year-old butcher was stricken his partner, Charles Newsome, tried to call a doctor. Newsome said two women eating over the telephone refused to give up the line even when he told them of the emergency.

Finally Newsome drove his elderly partner to a doctor's office. Volunteer firemen administered artificial respiration in vain.

BEE KEEPERS IN NEW JERSEY SAY THIEVES AT WORK

TRENTON N. J., Dec. 5.—(INS)—The State Department of Agriculture reported today that bee thieves are at large in New Jersey.

At least four bee-keepers report colonies of bees have been stolen.

the department said. It revealed an increase in this type of thievery during the past summer.

State police report 2,196 colonies of bees are registered in 130 apiaries in New Jersey and each colony is branded with a number assigned by the inspectors for purposes of identification.

The bee-branding system was put in effect some years ago through the cooperation of the State Department of Agriculture, the New Jersey Beekeepers association and Sgt. John V. Conover of the New Jersey state police.

GREEK PREMIER FLYING TO U. S.

SHANNON, Eire, Dec. 5.—(INS)—Greek Premier Constantine Tsaldaris took off from Shannon for New York early today on the last leg of a mission to the United Nations to ask for an investigation of Greece's border fighting.

Tsaldaris arrived in Shannon from Paris yesterday morning but his plane's take off was delayed by mechanical trouble.

Warns Employers Using Children Of Federal Law

Part-Time Jobs Held By Minors Must Be In Compliance With Child-Labor Laws

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—"You can dress a 16-year-old in red plush and white fur and let him play Santa Claus without violating Federal child-labor provisions, but don't let him run an elevator or drive a truck," Mrs. Valda L. Noll said today in the regional office of the U. S. Department of Labor here.

Mrs. Noll, who is a child-labor consultant on the staff of the Child Labor and Youth Employment Branch of the Division of Labor Standards, urges employers, school officials, parents, and young people to remember that Christmas jobs for students must comply with State and Federal Child-Labor standards. "A new hazardous occupations order under the child-labor provisions of the Federal Fair Labor Standards Act went into effect September 1, 1946, which sets 18 as the minimum age for operating elevators in any establishment that produces or handles goods for shipment out of the State," Mrs. Noll said. "An earlier order makes it illegal to employ a minor under 18 as driver or helper on any motor vehicle. Sixteen years is the minimum age for general employment in establishments covered by the Federal act."

Children 14 and 15 years old, however, may work in sales or clerical departments during vacation provided they do not work more than eight hours a day or 40 hours a week or after 7 o'clock at night. They must not work more than 18 hours in a payroll week during any part of which schools are in session, and on any school day they must not work during school hours or more than three hours."

The states of Massachusetts, Virginia, Rhode Island and Iowa, have laws which allow alimony to a divorced husband.

HARLANSBURG

RECEPTION HONORS PASTOR
Friday evening members and friends of the Harlansburg Unity Baptist church gathered in the church to honor the new pastor and his family. Rev. and Mrs. Joseph Leichter.

Rev. John C. Meyers, pastor of the First Baptist church of Ellwood City, was the chairman of the evening, introducing the various speakers and features of the program.

Rev. Oliver Hurst of New Castle, pronounced the invocation, which was followed by a musical reading by Mrs. Isabelle Reddick. The Men's Chorus sang a number after which Mrs. Nannie Hunt was heard in a reading. The girls' quintette were also heard in a special selection.

The welcome was given by Willis
Kneram, chairman of the pulpit committee after which the following gave greetings: Rev. J. C. Meyer,
Rev. Carl Jones, Rev. Oliver Hurst,
Rev. Fred Cochran, Rev. M. G.
Munn, Rev. J. W. Nyman and Rev.
Gordon Whitney of Coraopolis.

Rev. Leichter gave a very fitting response.

Following the program, a receiving line was formed to greet the new pastor after which a social hour and refreshments were enjoyed.

CHURCH NOTES
Regular Sunday services will be conducted in the Unity Baptist church with Rev. Leichter preaching.

Regular services will be conducted in the Presbyterian church on Sunday, with Rev. Fisher preaching.

The Mary Ellen Bell Missionary society of the Presbyterian church will meet at the home of Mrs.
Everett McConnell on Thursday.

The leader will be Mrs. Harriet Johnson during the devotions and Mrs. Ruth West and Mrs. Edna
Donley during the program.

HARLANSBURG NOTES
Willis Kneram Jr. had the misfortune to break his arm on Thanksgiving Day. He is home from the hospital and improving.

perience of an airplane making a forced landing in a field near her home. A student from Cleveland was making a trial flight, missed the New Castle airport and ran out of fuel. The next day an airplane from Cleveland came to refuel the "downed" plane.

Mr. and Mrs. William Crowe spent a week in New York City.

The D. L. club met on Wednesday evening at the home of Miss Doris Richeal with 12 members present.
Sewing, social chat and refreshments filled the evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Harlan of Princeton Station, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Hunt.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Frazier and children expect to leave on Friday for a vacation in Florida at Tampa and Bradenton.

Mrs. Leslie McCracken and Miss
Peggy Lou returned from a three weeks' vacation in Miami, Fla.
Sunday, November 24.

NEW GALILEE
Mrs. Mary Wisnerman and family and Mrs. Elsie Blatch were shoppers in Beaver Falls recently.

Frank Barroni, of Koppel, spent the week end with his parents.

Mrs. Anna Buchanan spent the Thanksgiving holiday at the home of Robert L. Yohe and family, of Enon Valley.

ZIONISTS HEAR RABBI R. SYME

First In Series Of Speakers At Zionist Meeting Heard By Large Crowd Wednesday

RABBI ROBERT SYME

A capacity audience heard Rabbi Robert Syme, of the House of Israel synagogue, of Sharon, Pa., on Wednesday evening, the first in a series of speakers to be sponsored by the Zionist organization.

Rabbi Syme spoke at the Cosmo club, North Mercer street, and as his subject of the evening, chose "Broken Pledges", he related how the British broke their pledge to the Jewish people, by not upholding the Balfour Declaration, which was to give Palestine to the Jewish people in 1917. Rabbi Syme pictured the plight of persons throughout the displaced persons camp in Europe, stating that the plight would be nonexistent if Palestine were opened to them for refuge.

An informal question period followed Rabbi Syme's interesting address.

REPORT HOLDUP THWARTED

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 5.—(INS)—George L. Fritzus of Pittsburgh was held today by Pittsburgh police after he was thwarted in a $2300 holdup by two of his victims.

Police said Fritzus entered the office of a used car lot in Wilkensburg and held Joseph Serpes and William Constantine at gunpoint while he took the money from Constantine's billfold. Police said the two men jumped Fritzus when he slugged Constantine's brother, Edward, as he entered the office.

In the ensuing battle, Edward received severe head cuts, and William lost several teeth, police added.

SMALL FIRE AT JOHNSON BRONZE

Firemen were called to the plant of the Johnson Bronze Company on South Mill street, by an alarm from Box 44, at 12:15 p. m. this afternoon, when some paper and rubbish piled in the rear of the office building caught fire, and scorched an old watchman's shanty, which was used during the war. The damage was small, Assistant Fire Chief George W. Harper reported.

Members of the plant fire department had used hand extinguishers on the blaze, keeping it under control until firemen arrived at the scene.

Rinascenza Lodge To Burn Mortgage Saturday Evening

Over 200 Members Of Italian Lodge Will Gather For Momentous Occasion

Saturday, December 7, will be a "red-letter" day in the lives of over 200 members of the Rinascenza Lodge No. 19, of New Castle. It will be the day for the burning of their club mortgage, a momentous event.

The occasion will call for a big banquet starting at 8:30 o'clock at the club rooms located at 812 Morton street. The Rinascenza Club was organized September 7, 1930 by the late Rev. Angelo Fiata and a committee of friends. Now, after 16 years the members are ready to burn the mortgage, the indebtedness incurred, having been paid off.

Have Fine Clubrooms

The organization took place at the King Umberto Hall and meetings were held there until a suitable clubroom could be secured on Morton street for the holding of meetings. Today the club has a membership of over 200 and are growing steadily, through concentrated hard effort. New administrators have been elected every year and all have done their share in the building up of the club to the high level that it holds. The club rooms are quite modern and up to date.

Joseph Tomasello has cooperated in every way possible to make the club a success. The club members are famous for their spaghetti suppers and other types of dinners.

Following are list of officers who are serving the Rinascenza Lodge at the present time: president, Guy Matricardi; vice-president, Joseph Zagani; ex-president, C. C. Claus; orator, Guy Casella; corresponding secretary, Ida Matricardi; financial secretary, William D. Lorenzo; treasurer, Ralph Morelli; trustees, Vincent Parco; C. A. Pizzitola; Katherine Guerin; Katherine Evangelista; Antonietta Vassallo; Maria DeCristoforo; director of ceremonies, Philip Samsel; Ed D'Ambrasio; reporter, Joseph Tomasello.

Paul J. Phila, state counselor of the Rinascenza lodges will be a special guest at the burning of the mortgage Saturday evening.

BRITISH SOLDIER KILLED

LONDON, Dec. 5.—(INS)—A Jerusalem dispatch to Reuters reported that one British soldier was killed today and four others are missing in a bomb attack on a military headquarters near the all Jewish City of Tel Aviv.

There are 27,000 factories in Australia, producing goods worth approximately $2,512,438,500 annually.

St. Mary's Group Elects Officers

Margaret O'Leary Re-Elected President Of Young Ladies Society At Meeting

Regular monthly meeting of the Sodality of Our Lady of the Immaculate Conception of St. Mary's church was held in the church basement on Tuesday, December 3.

The annual Triduum in honor of the Immaculate Conception will be held December 6, 7 and 8 ending with the reception of new candidates.

New officers were elected for the coming year. Margaret O'Leary was re-elected as prefect; Nancy Lehman, vice prefect; Joan McCarthy, secretary, and Frances Cunningham, treasurer.

Fr. Koller spoke to the girls of the necessity of attending church often. He finds the main regret of older people is that they didn't make the most of their opportunities in younger days. There should be an awakening in the minds of our young girls that they have a responsibility to themselves and to others. Our future homes and families are going to be what our girls are today.

Peg O'Leary thanked the officers for their work in the previous year and asked that the fullest cooperation be given the officers for the coming year.

West Virginia Miners Silent On Court Ruling

FAIRMONT, W. Va., Dec. 5.—(INS)—West Virginia soft coal miners, like their brother miners throughout the nation, today had little to say about Judge T. Alan Goldsborough's decision fining the United Mine Workers Union and John L. Lewis for failure to call off the strike of 400,000 miners.

Throughout the northern West Virginia fields the miners felt that the $3,500,000 fine assessed their union was outrageous and there was no basis for the $10,000 fine against their chieftain.

Bake this TEA RING in 1/2 THE TIME!
OCCIDENT'S NEW SPEEDIE METHOD

SEE HOW SPEEDY!
INGREDIENTS

6 1/2 cups OCCIDENT Family Flour
2 cups lukewarm water (87° F.)
1/2 cup sugar
2 cakes compressed yeast
1 tablespoon salt
2 eggs
1/3 cup shortening

HERE'S HOW!

1. EASY!
Place water, sugar and yeast in mixing bowl. Add salt, and 2 cups sifted flour. Beat with electric mixer or rotary beater 2 minutes. Add eggs and melted and cooled shortening. Beat 1 minute.

2. FAST!
Gradually add 4 1/2 cups flour. Stir until dough is firm. Let dough "rest" in bowl 20 minutes for ease in handling.

3. NO KNEADING!

Roll 1/2 of dough into a 9 x 16 inch rectangle on floured bread board. Blend 1/2 cup brown sugar, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, 1/4 cup melted shortening; spread on dough. Roll jelly-roll fashion and place on greased baking sheet with sealed edge down. Shape into a ring and seal ends together.

4. BEAUTIFUL! DELICIOUS!

With scissors cut through ring to 1/2 inch of inner edge in 1 inch slices. Twist each slice on its side. Cover; let rise in a warm place (about 85°) for 40 minutes.

5. Bake 30-35 minutes in a moderately hot oven (375°).

Icing: Blend 1/2 cup powdered sugar, 1/2 teaspoon vanilla, 1 tablespoon milk. Pour over warm tea ring. Nuts and maraschino cherries may be placed on icing.

Woman And Baby Trudge 800 Miles Seeking New Home

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—(INS)—Philadelphia, city of brotherly love, threw open its arms today to the 30-year-old wife of a former G.I. and her year-old son.
 The woman, Mrs. Dorothy Bammann, stumbled along a Philadelphia street last night famished and forlorn, carrying her baby over her shoulder and a suitcase in her arm.
 Approached by a policeman, she related how she hitch-hiked nearly 800 miles from Chicago in hopes that she would find a haven in Philadelphia, where she could work and raise her son, Walter, Jr.
 Between gulps of a hot meal provided by sympathetic police who were busy changing young Walter's diapers, Mrs. Bammann said she left her husband, an ex-Army sergeant, in a Chicago Y.M.C.A., where they were forced to abandon their tiny apartment due to lack of money.
 After two days of hitchhiking, she arrived—thanks to sympathetic truck drivers who furnished most of the "lifts." When no rides were forthcoming, she said, she walked, and her well-worn shoes showed evidence that this was often the case.
 Police transferred her and the child to the welfare shelter, for a good night's sleep. She was due to set out today to seek "housework," preferably in a home where little Walter can be with her.

Attend Meeting Of Public Employees Retirement Fund

Two Councilmen Report Attendance At Conference Held In Harrisburg

When council met Thursday in city hall, Streets Director David Gibson and Safety Director David O. Davies reported to colleagues they had attended a meeting of the Pennsylvania Conference Public Employees Retirement system at Harrisburg.

The session was held Tuesday. The councilmen returned last night. Forty representatives from various political sub-divisions, police, firemen and the state highway department, discussed a proposed creation of a retirement fund for all state, city, township and other employees.

Plans as yet are incomplete. Another conference will be held in January and a third in February after which, it was stated, if plans are agreed upon, a proposed bill will be presented to the legislature.

The chief difficulty, at present, it was reported, is how to build up a fund without municipalities suffering hardship.

Open for Study

The 1947 budget and tax levy ordinances, which were introduced by Finance Director Albert Heyland Monday, are now on display in the offices of City Clerk Jack Fritz. The budget is open for inspection. Upon motion today in council, the city clerk was instructed to advertise that the contents of the budget, or estimated financial needs of the city next year, may be scanned. The estimated appropriations total $623,470.15, to be derived through a tax levy of 13 mills, which was the millage this year.

Mailing Restrictions Begin On Friday

Postmaster Hanna Receives Notice
Of Restricted, Exempted Mail Matter Under New Order

Postmaster William R. Hanna has received from the Postmaster General a notice of restrictions upon mailing, due to the coal strike embargo situation, which is self explanatory. It is as follows:

- Effective 12:01 a. m., December 6, 1946, and until further notice no article of first class mail, including air mail, weighing in excess of 5 pounds and no parcels of fourth-class matter exceeding 5 pounds in weight or 18 inches in length or 60 inches in length and girth combined shall be accepted for mailing, provided that these limitations shall not apply to the following items or in the following circumstances:
- Live day-old chicks and other poultry poulters as provided in paragraph 2, Section 594, P. L. & R.
- Cut flowers, ferns, plants and other nursery stock.
- Eggs, butter and other perishable food products normally accepted for mailing.
- Serums, medicines, drugs, surgical instruments and dressings and hospital supplies.
- Shipments of money in the registered mail.
- Parcels addressed to members

New Castle High Floor Season Will Start Friday Night

Youngstown East Furnishes First Test For Locals

Coach Bill Douglass Makes Debut In New Castle Hi Floor Circles Friday

OHIOANS BRINGING VETERAN MACHINE

New Castle basketball fans will get their first glimpse of the new floor regime at New Castle High, Friday night at the Washington High gym, when Head Coach Bill Douglass takes the wraps off the 1946-47 "Red Hurricanes," and sends them into action with the formidable veteran Youngstown East quintet.

The preliminary game will start at 7 o'clock, with the New Castle High Reddies tangling with the Youngstown East Reserves and Assistant Coach Clark McClelland who will also be making his first appearance at the basketball helm here will direct the local reserves. "Mac" is a former New Castle High floor star under Phil Brittenbaugh and Douglass is a former West Chester University under John Lawther, now at Penn State.

New System Installed
Both Douglass and McClelland bring a wealth of floor experience to our city and the fans will see some fast basketball this year. Douglass is using a combination man-for-man and zone defense patterned after his successful tenure at Greensburg, High where he turned out five section champions in seven years.

At the start of the practice sessions Coaches Douglass and McClelland were greeted by 224 prospects. The squad has been whittled down to 25 players. "We won't be the best club in the world this year, but we won't be the worst by any stretch of the imagination either," Douglass stated.

Starting Five Set
Douglass announced today that his starting five Friday will probably be as follows: at the forwards Don Black and Don Spears, at center Stan Grybowski, and at the guards Al Marrotini and Chuck Ray. "My three first string reserves will be Don Walters, Paul Cuba, Jr., and Gene Gribble," Douglass announced. Black, Grybowski and Gribble were regulars last year. Ray and Spears were on the reserve team.

Faculty Manager Robert M. Mills announced that owing to repairs the big electric clock will not be in operation for the Youngstown game, but will be in use for the game with Avalon High next Tuesday evening. The game with Avalon was carded Wednesday by Mills.

Star Bowlers Go After Big Prize

CHICAGO, Dec. 5.—(INS)—Joseph (Buck) Wilman, bowling's 41-year-old Prince Charming, today tossed a gay "come and get me" to 15 nationally known foes who joined him in the match play finals of the annual national all-star tournament.

They will be out to get him, too. Led by ex-Tillis Budd Bomar, the country's classiest "snip" sharpshooters had an eye coaxed on Wilman's all-star crown—and the first prize of $2,000 which goes with it. With Wilman and Bomar both hailing from Chicago, the Windy City had a total of seven representatives in the finals.

Other all-star qualifiers for final argument were Walter Ward, Cleveland; Semo Slavick, Wheeling, W. Va.; Leo Rolick, Alhambra, Calif.; Andy Varipapa, Hempstead, N. Y.; Allie Brandt, Lockport, N. Y.; Walter Johnson, Toledo, O.; and Buzz Fazio, Cleveland.

SECOND DEFEATS ST. GEORGE FIVE

Score Is 45 To 25; First U. P. And Epworth Also Winners At 'Y' Wednesday

Second U. P. church's star-studded quintet last night at the "Y" in a Church league game, defeated the St. George Greeks 45 to 25 for their second loop win with Bob Pitzer starring.

First U. P. thumped the Trinity five 50 to 36 in the second game despite 20 points pumped in by young Erce, while in the last game the Epworth team edged the Third U. P. 41 to 37 in a well played contest.

The schedule for Friday has been changed to read as follows: first game: Baptists vs Central Christians; St. Pauls vs First Presbyterians; Wampum vs Croton.

AA Fielding Team Shoot Five Bucks At Ward's Ranch

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 5.—(INS)—The Minneapolis Millers grabbed club fielding laurels during the American Association's 1946 campaign, turning in a fielding mark of 970.

Official figures released today by the Howe News bureau showed the following individual leaders:

First base: Johnny McCarthy, Minneapolis, .995; second base: Bob Wren, Toledo, .975; third base: Gene Nace, Milwaukee, .960; shortstop: Dick Kimble, Toledo, .951; outfield: Frank Genovese, Louisville, .932; pitcher: John Hutchings, Indianapolis, 1.000; catcher: John Riddle, Indianapolis, .937.

Louisville made 26 assists on August 6 to establish a new mark for the circuit. Mike Natisip of Columbus tied a league record with two unassisted double plays at first base on May 18.

Dudley Undecided Upon Retirement Following Injury

Former All-American At Virginia University Praises Steelers Linemen

By JACK WARD (U.S.S. Staff Correspondent)

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 5.—An ordinary-sized guy considered "too small" for pro football but who, paradoxically, rests at the top of the heap, today found himself on the spot with a report that he intends to quit the cash-and-carry ranks.

Bill (The Bullet) Dudley, currently No. 1 on the National pro leagues' ground-gaining parade, admitted he had second thoughts on the idea, but as of now, he is "undecided."

In his ear-catching Virginia manner, the Pittsburgh Steeler ace left half drawled: "I don't know how the story got out that I have quit football. Right now I'm undecided about playing next season, but I haven't quit."

Most Valuable Man
The Bluefield, Va., bullet, an almost sure-bet for the league's most valuable player award, confided that he was too tight (170 pounds) for professional competition. He added: "I know I'm not big enough to stand up under the beating a key player is required to take in this league."

Dudley's 11-game battering literally came to a bang-up ending Sunday against the Philadelphia Eagles. Rushed on a fourth-down desperation pass, The Bullet fell to the ground with a torn cartilage in his right knee and was carried from the field on a stretcher.

The injury was a climax to the thorough beating he took at the hands of larger opponents throughout the Steeler schedule. The hard-driving former University of Virginia All-American drawled: "That knee is mighty sore. I'm going home today and just sit around and rest, nothing else."

Dudley Praises Line
"But I'll be around for the league playoffs," he quickly continued.

Dudley, who is modest as a story book hero—and is just that to Pittsburgh football fans—was outspoken with praise for his teammates, oftentimes called "Dr. Sutherland's little boys."

But he declared: "These fellows contributed everything to my success this year, as far as I'm concerned. They are remarkable—the hardest fighting outfit in professional football. They played their hearts out in every game."

The report that he was considering leaving the play-for-pay ranks caught Dudley fans and Steeler officials flat-footed. However, one Steeler source confidently responded:

"Bill is too much of a competitor. He loves football."

"He'll be back next year."

Bramham Hurls 'Gambling Charge'

Retiring Czar Of Minor League Baseball Tosses Bombshell Into Convention

By FRANK NEILL (U.S.S. Staff Correspondent)

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—Battle lines were drawn tightly at the annual major-minor winter baseball meetings today as presidents of the 42 minor leagues argued over the selection of a new czar.

George Trautman, executive vice president of the Detroit Tigers and former head of the American Association, had the inside track on the $30,000 a year job vacated yesterday by Judge William G. Bramham.

Trautman had the backing of major league moguls, but independent circuit bosses opposed him in grounds that he was a "major league man" lacking deep interest in the minor leagues.

Several Sides Tied
Four other minor league figures were considered as successor to Bramham, who stepped down because of ill health when his contract still had two years to run. Other men mentioned for the post were:

Lon H. Richardson, Eastern league president, Oscar Reichow, business manager of the Hollywood Stars of the Pacific Coast league, John Reeves, president of the Fort Worth, Texas, club, and Billy Evans, Southern Association boss.

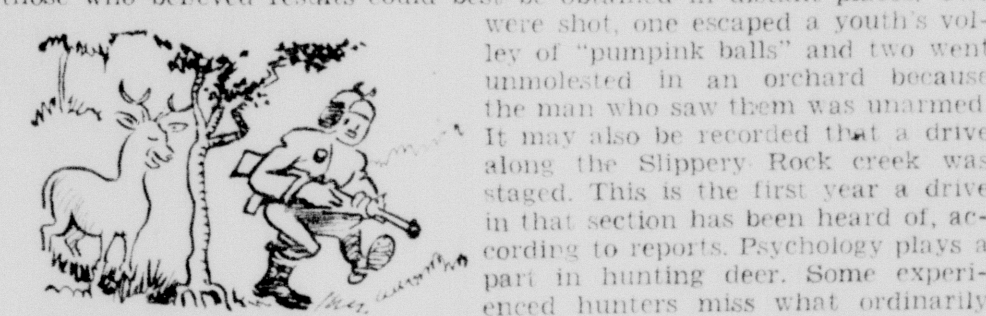

The 45th annual convention of the National Baseball Association still buzzed from repercussions of Bramham's final report, in which he charged that "certain" players and teams had bet against themselves and thrown games last season.

Bramham shouted from the floor that baseball gambles have become an increasing menace to the game. Without mentioning names of players or teams involved, the 72-year-old baseball figure disclosed that one player had been barred from professional ball for life and that another player—leading pitcher of his league—was under investigation.

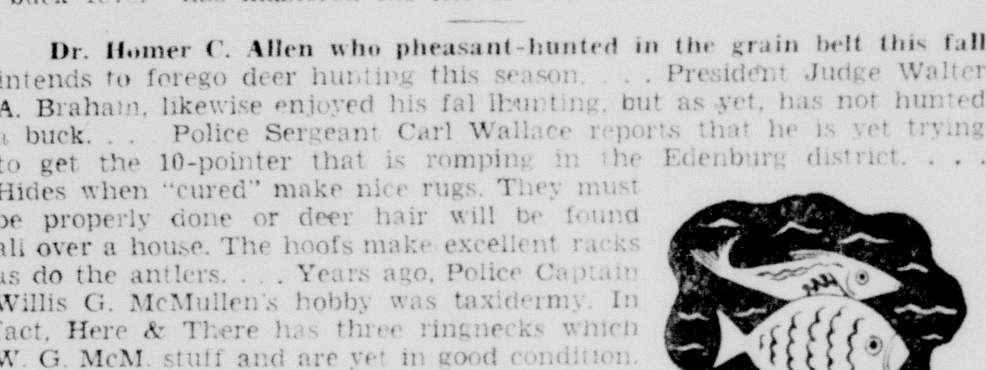

HERSHEY BEARS LOSE
HERSHEY, Pa., Dec. 5.—(INS)—The winning streak of the Hershey Bears, top team in the American Hockey league, was snapped today at seven straight games. The Cleveland Barons, close on Hershey's heels for loop honors hammered out a 5-2 victory over the Bears last night.

SOME years ago an experienced deer hunter informed Here & There: "Deer are where they 'aint', implying that one could expect to see a deer where he least would expect to see one. Apparently there's something to the statement because some of the well knowns of Harlanburg were campaigning through the woods of Elk County during the forepart of the week while others were hanging deer on ground owned by those who believed results could best be obtained in distant places. Two were shot, one escaped a youth's volley of "pumpkin balls" and two went unharmed in an orchard because the man who saw them was unarmed. It may also be recorded that a drive along the Slippery Rock creek was staged. This is the first year a drive in that section has been heard of, according to reports. Psychology plays a part in hunting deer. Some experienced hunters miss what ordinarily would be easy shots. One who has hunted for a buck all day has formed an opinion as to where they are. If he has covered considerable ground near a clearing without encountering any, he may expect to find one in the clearing. Should he be gazing into the clearing and a deer comes from behind he is surprised or momentarily upset, and usually the deer is gone before he has had time to turn, aim accurately and fire. And then again "buck fever" has saved the lives of some deer. Here & There knows an experienced ground game and bird hunter, deadily in accuracy, who shakes like a storm-tossed willow when he sees a buck, with the result that, Mr. Buck has leaped to safety before the victim of "buck fever" has mastered his nerves and fired.

Dr. Homer C. Allen who pleasant-hunted in the grain belt this fall intends to forego deer hunting this season. . . . President Judge Walter A. Abraham, likewise enjoyed his fall hunting, but as yet, has not hunted a buck. . . . Police Sergeant Carl Wallace reports that he is yet trying to get the 10-pointer that is romping in the Edensburg district. . . . Hides when "cured" make nice rugs. They must be properly done or deer hair will be found all over a house. The hoods make excellent racks as do the antlers. . . . Years ago, Police Captain Willis G. McMullen's hobby was taxidermy. In fact, he has three rinks which W. G. McM. stuff and are yet in good condition. Apparently Ohio has copied from Governor-elect Jim Duff's plan when fish streams are polluted, a report stating that an auto light company stocked 400,000 minnows as part settlement for pollution damage in the Little Miami river. . . . Where do minnows go in the winter? Possibly Bud Fleeger, who versed in such knowledge, may provide the answer. Relative to bass, some say they bury in the mud and phlegmatically await spring. . . . Pennsylvania paid bounties on 5,235 foxes during the period, October 1 to November 15. There were 3,624 reds and 2,211 grays—and there are a lot yet scurrying hereabouts, so the outdoorsmen report. . . . Herbie Kronowitz who knocked out Russ Baxter is one of the best punches in the east's middleweight ranks. Russ needs coaching in the fundamental of boxing. He admitted this to Here & There and said "I'll know, is what came to me naturally." . . . There is always a right and wrong way in every endeavor and a good instructor is worth his weight in gold.

Davis And Army Receive Honors
Glenn Davis, Star Halfback Wins Heisman Award, Army Given Lambert Trophy
LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—(INS)—Glenn Davis personally and the Army football team as a whole were honored Wednesday by being voted trophies in recognition for their excellence in football. . . . Halfback Davis of the unbeaten Army team, succeeds his teammate, Felix (Doc) Blanchard, as holder of the Heisman trophy awarded annually by the Downtown Athletic club to the outstanding college player in the nation. . . . Trippi Runnerup Davis received 792 votes to top Charlie Trippi of Georgia, who was runnerup with 435. Johnny Lusk of Notre Dame took third with 379, then came Blanchard with 267. . . . In a straight cash transaction, the Washington Senators sold catcher Mike Guerra to the Philadelphia Athletics, and gave up another backup, trading Jake Early to the St. Louis Browns for Frank Mancuso. . . . Brooklyn traded Eddie Basinski an infielder, to the Pittsburgh Pirates for southpaw pitcher Al Gerhauser, who will be farmed out to Montreal, the Dodgers farm club.

Several Trades Are Put Through At Los Angeles

Pirates Give Up Gerhauser And Get Eddie Basinski From Brooklyn Dodgers

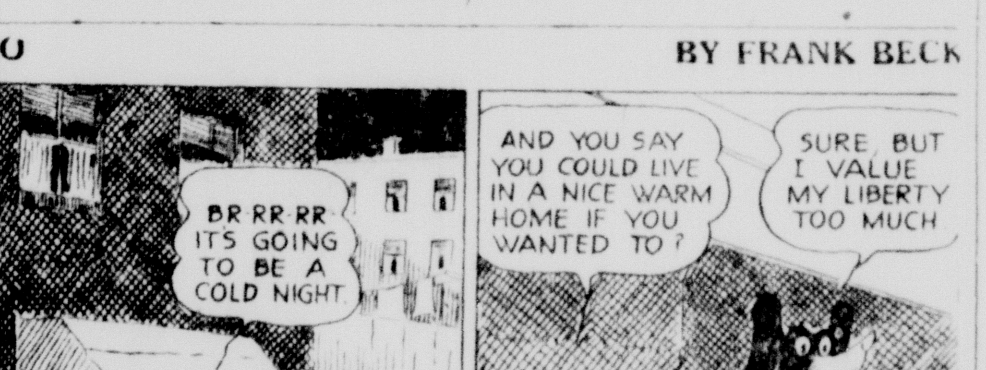

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 5.—(INS)—Baseball managers continued to tussle in crowded hotel lobbies and upstairs rooms today—trying to buy, sell or trade their way into a championship pennant next season. . . . Latest player deals at the annual major-minor winter meeting in Los Angeles included some startling horse trades. They included: . . . The Brooklyn Dodgers traded veteran Augie Galan, outfielder and parttime infielder, to the Cincinnati Reds. In return, the "bums" received careerball pitcher Ed Heusser. . . . Pirates Get Basinski

STAGS DEFEAT IRONMEN
PITTSBURGH, Dec. 5.—(INS)—The Pittsburgh Ironmen quintet today figured their fourth consecutive loss after the Chicago Stags romped over them to a 37-46 victory last night in Pittsburgh in a Basketball Association of America contest.

WILL PLAY SUNDAY
The Shamrocks football team, local sandlot champions will play the New Castle All-Stars Sunday at Washington field at 2:30 o'clock. It was announced by Coach Moffett.

'Y' House Loop Will Be Formed
Y. M. C. A. is again completing plans for the formation of a house basketball league which will be composed of association members who are not playing with other teams of the "Y". . . . The teams will play Tuesday and Thursday evenings beginning at 7 p. m. First games are slated for Tuesday, Dec. 10. . . . All members interested in competing in the loop are asked to leave their applications at the physical department office.

Frankie Moran Wins In First

Local Southpaw Knocks Out Patsy Zoccoano In Trenton, N. J. Ring

Frankie Moran, southpaw lightweight of New York, made a dynamic debut in the east Tuesday night when he knocked out Patsy Zoccoano in the first round of a bout in Trenton, N. J. Prior to going to New York he scored quick knockouts in Akron and McKeesport. . . . After his quick victory Moran was matched for another fight next Tuesday night in the same ring and for a bout in Binghamton the night following. . . . Frankie accompanied Russell Baxter to New York where both are boxing under the management of Al Long. They are living at Valley Stream, L. I., where Sonny Horne also resides.

GRIDDERS DISAPPOINTED
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—(INS)—Villanova football players glumly changed their plans for New Year's today with the news that the scheduled Dixie Bowl game in Birmingham, Ala., had been cancelled. . . . The Wildcats had been chosen to play, and had officially accepted the bid, but the bowl officials were unable to secure a suitable opponent.

Penn Gridders Get Invitations
PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—(INS)—Bids to five "star" games have been received today by five University of Pennsylvania gridders. . . . Co-Captain Ed Grain has been invited to play in both the East-West and Blue-Gray post-season encounters. . . . End Art Littleton and Co-Captain Tackle Bernie Gallagher have already accepted bids to the East-West game in San Francisco New Year's Day. . . . Quarterback Carmen Falcone and End Frank Jenkins have been asked to play for the North in the Blue-Gray battle at Montgomery, Ala., December 28. Falcone led the North to a 28-0 triumph last year. . . . Grain has not reached a decision on either invitation.

New Wilmington Boys On Kansas College Quintet
Little Sterling college in Kansas is grateful to New Wilmington as the cage season is about to begin for no less than four ex-Greyhounds are on the floor squad. . . . Lawrence countians out for the team include Bob Newton, class of 1939, all-W. P. I. A. L. guard and one-time member of the Westminster squad; Ray "Casey" Sharp, member of the undefeated 1940 section champs; Gordon Pitzer, class of 1942; and Walt Miller, class of '46 who cavorted for the Greyhounds last winter. . . . Newton and Sharp have been selected as co-captains for the 1946-47 season. They are veterans and juniors. Pitzer and Miller are both promising freshmen, the former also being a war veteran.

Coach Also Product
Also of interest is the fact that "Tiny" Wilson, Sterling mentor, is a product of New Wilmington, having shared the guard posts with Sharp on the 1940 team. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Wilson, 223 S. Market street. . . . The Kansas school, with a schedule of 18 tiltts, expects a fine season, it was reported.

Long before the football season ended, Coach Charlie Speidel of Penn State had begun pre-season wrestling drills.

Official Says Navy Was Not Given 'Gypping'

Field Judge Wallace Man With Clock Says 'Navy Wasn't Cheated On Time'

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 5.—(INS)—The Army-Navy game field judge insisted today that a "fast clock" prevented the Middles from running what might have been the winning play in the final seconds of the service classic on Saturday.

Fred P. Wallace, the man responsible for stopping and starting the clock, declared that Navy had not been "short-changed" one play as many fans who witnessed the tight 21-18 struggle believed.

Official Explains
Here's the way Wallace explained it. . . . "When Navy got down to the Army five-yard line, first down, the crowd surged all over the field. They crowded the sidelines and invaded the end zone. . . . "We asked Blanchard of Army if he was willing to go ahead under the circumstances. 'Yes Sir,' he answered. The Navy captain said the same thing. So Navy ran two plays and didn't gain. . . . "Then two Navy substitutes came into the game. We stopped the clock and told both coaches they had had their legal four times out and that further substitutions would cost them five yards. . . . "Navy took its penalty and the next play went to the right. I hoped over there. The play had been stopped four or five yards inside the sideline. There was no reason to stop the clock on that count. . . . "I had trouble getting the ball from the Navy carrier and, as I turned to place it, the clock was running four-three-two-one. I hadn't even handed the ball to the referee after getting it from the Navy carrier. So I looked up and said to Referee Bill Halloran, 'That's all, the game's over'."

FAIR OR FOUL

BY LAWTON CARVER
Sports Editor, International News Service

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—Ken Strong remains a football player's football player at the age of 41. Don't pay any attention to the record books that say he is only 39.

The old man of the New York Giants is still just about the best kicker in professional football, and the idol of a latter day crop of fans who remember him when.

Good As Thorpe
Bing Miller, the tackle on the great New York university teams fullback by Strong, says that his old room-mate was as good as Jim Thorpe or any football player that ever lived.

Miller explained: "There wasn't anything that Strong couldn't do better than anybody else on our team and don't forget this was a hand-picked team."

Miller doesn't go into detail but the teams that Strong played on at New York university were the ones in the 1920's when Chick Meehan was carrying out orders to bring in the best talent that money could buy.

Great Backfield
Meehan had a great backfield composed of Strong, Dutch Connor, Archie Roberts and Frank Briante. This represented football as it was played in that golden era.

Meehan had a line that included Bing Miller at one tackle and Al Lassman at the other. Lassman got all the publicity and died a virtual martyr in a drowning, but Miller was a whale of a man.

Miller recalls those days with a chuckle and a sigh. They were really good old days. And they carried over into his tenure in professional football with the Staten Island Stapletons, where Strong also was a star.

Miller said: "I was at the Polo grounds last Sunday when they had Ken Strong day and it couldn't happen to a better guy. But when I see him the way he is today, just kicking field goals and points after touchdowns, and think of what he used to be it makes me a little sad."

Recalls Great Run
Miller recalled that in a game with the Green Bay Packers years and years ago Strong took a kick behind his goal-line and zig-zagged back and forth across the field until he had run all the way for a touchdown.

"The Packers crowded around the goal-line, threw their helmets on the ground and stood shaking their heads," Miller said. "It was the greatest run they had ever seen."

"I also saw Strong punt 55 yards when a guy had him by the throat. His tackler finally fell on the ground and looked at me and asked how he ever got that kick away."

Weights About 210
Strong still weighs around 210, which was his fullback weight in college, and he is a Dead-eye Dick on kicks. That's about all he can do now.

Frank Cope, captain and tackle of the New York Giants, tells a story about him.

A couple of years ago Strong's young son wanted to see the old man carry the ball. The Giants were in front by 28 to 0 and decided to let Strong try for a touchdown plunge from about six yards out.

He barely missed the touchdown, but wasn't so much concerned about that when he discussed the play afterward.

Strong said he was two months getting over the bruises.

He's just a kicker now and will stay in that category until some day when Steve Owen, the coach, tells him he is through even in that department.

Yankees Really Cleaning House

Yanks Have Undergone 64 Per Cent Turnover Since McPhail Took Over

NEW YORK, Dec. 5.—(INS)—Evidence of the club's attempt to regain its pre-war eminence was cited today in the fact that the New York Yankees had undergone a 64 per cent turnover in personnel since its purchase by the MacPhail-Topping group in 1945.

This sweeping exodus of the "old order" that flourished under Manager Joe McCarthy was further emphasized, President L. S. MacPhail pointed out, by the fact that only eight players remained of the 32 that went into war-time spring training at the start of the '45 season.

The surviving eight included pitchers Floyd Bevens, Karl Drews, Allen Gettel and Joe Page; infielders Frank Crosetti, Nick Etten and George Stinnett; and outfielder Johnny Lindell.

Pointing out that of the 61 who took part in spring training last year, only 25 players were left on the 1947 reserve list, MacPhail said the latter would be the nucleus around which the Yankees expected to create another championship dynasty within two years.

Hard-Coal Men Await Outcome Of Lewis Battle

SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 5.—(INS)—Pennsylvania's 70,000 anthracite miners tensely awaited developments today in the legal tug-of-war between UMWA President John L. Lewis and the Federal government.

Miners reported for the night shift yesterday before announcement was made of the heavy fines imposed on the union and Lewis.

Initial reports indicated the miners were resentful of the heavy penalties but no indication was given whether they would stage a walkout in sympathy with the bituminous strikers.

The Lackawanna Railroad announced last night that the coal shortage would force the closing of locomotive shops in Scranton and Kingsland, N. J., Monday and more than 700 workers would be furloughed.

Mother Is Killed By Accidental Shot Of Hunter

OIL CITY, Pa., Dec. 5.—(INS)—The Venango county coroner's office reported today that John Prather, 31, accidentally shot and killed his mother, Mrs. Ella Prather, 50, while test-firing a rifle before going deer hunting near Oil City.

The coroner's report stated that Prather said he was adjusting the sights on his rifle and firing an occasional shot at a tin-can through the doorway of his mother's home when she unexpectedly entered the doorway just as he fired.

Members 1937 Club Elect Officers

On Wednesday evening, members of the 1937 club had their annual business meeting in St. Margaret's hall, with Mrs. Anna Domenick, presiding.

Officers for 1947 were elected as follows: Mrs. Mary Quarto, president; Mrs. Margaret Masters, vice-president; Mrs. Elizabeth DiVito, treasurer; Mrs. Viola Cubellis, financial secretary; Mrs. Mary Beatrice, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Anna Domenick, Mrs. Margaret Fioranti, trustees for one year.

The club will have a Christmas party on December 14, in St. Margaret's hall at 7 o'clock. Committee in charge will be Mrs. Anna Domenick, chairlady, Mrs. Margaret Fioranti, Mrs. Mary Quarto, Mrs. Rose DiDario, Mrs. Catherine Ross, Mrs. Concetta Masters, Mrs. Mary Russo. Delicious refreshments were served.

Berean Class Enjoys Christmas Dinner

In the Madison Avenue Christian church members of the Berean Bible class had their annual Christmas dinner and business session on Tuesday evening in the church dining room.

Stewart Hunt gave the invocation. Before the business session Mrs. J. B. Moore led the devotional period. The following officers were elected: Mrs. Moore, teacher; Stewart Hunt, assistant; Mrs. C. J. Bernhart, president; Mrs. John W. Jones, vice president; Mrs. J. B. Bumbaugh, secretary; Mrs. J. W. McHattie, treasurer; Mrs. Harvey Gillespie, Mrs. R. A. Franklin, Mrs. Sally Deegan, social committee; Mrs. C. E. Amon, and Mrs. Charles Hammond, flower committee; Mrs. Stewart Hunt and Mrs. Norman Hunt, devotional committee.

Next regular meeting scheduled for Tuesday evening, January 7.

Penna BOs Annual Christmas Party

In the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Powers of Mt. Jackson road, members of the Penna BO lodge will gather for their annual Christmas party.

A full course turkey dinner and all the trimmings was served by the hostess, at 12:30. There was a large attendance. The table was nicely decorated.

The invocation was given by Mrs. Estelle Layton.

All assembled around a beautifully decorated tree, and exchanged gifts. Mrs. Lola Ballard of Warren, O., a member, was an out-of-town guest.

Cards 500 was the diversion of the afternoon with Mrs. Lila Shaw and Mrs. Helen Turk capturing the prizes.

Next regular meeting Wednesday, December 11, at the Y. W. C. A. at 2:30. Nomination and election of officers will take place.

UNDERGOES OPERATION

Word has been received by Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Jones of Sunny Side, Mr. and Mrs. Jones, that their son-in-law, John McFate, is getting along as well as can be expected. Mr. McFate underwent an operation Monday at the Aspinwall Veterans hospital. He is a veteran of World War II, and son of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. McFate of Edinburg. John is completing his studies at Penn State college, being a junior upon his entry into the armed forces.

SCOUTS MEET TONIGHT

Members of the Boy Scouts Troop X-4 will meet this evening at 7 o'clock in the social room of the Mahoning Methodist church.

Instructions in first aid will be given by assistant scoutmaster, Bill Witz, who will also show colored movies of Japan.

HAS BUCK FEVER

Mack Tindall of Willow Grove, reports having shot a ten point deer near Warren, Pa. A youthful hunter along with him, Ralph Urey, Jr., was eating a bar of candy when a fine buck showed up near him and he seemed to have buck fever, never raised his gun, and the deer loped away.

YOUTH SHOTS DEER

Ralph Frew, 13-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Frew of 606 North Cedar street, is quite elated having on Wednesday evening brought back a four point buck weighing 125 pounds, that he shot at noon Monday, in the vicinity of Wharton, Potter county. Ralph was in company of his father and brother, Joseph, Jr., with a party of hunters. Father and brother have remained. Ralph is a pupil at George Washington Jr. High school.

SEVENTH WARD PERSONALS

It is reported that Mrs. Sally Deegan of 1032 South Mill street was still quite ill this morning. Mrs. Deegan suffered a heart attack on Wednesday evening.

Eugene Robb and son Richard, of Detroit, Mich., formerly of the ward visited on Tuesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Powers of Mt. Jackson road. They were en route home after a hunting trip in the vicinity of Brookville. Richard bagged a seven point deer.

George Pastore of 214 North Liberty street has returned from a hunting trip in the neighborhood of Bellefonte, bringing home an eight-point buck deer, weighing 166 pounds.

Mrs. Luke Shepp of Brent is visiting in the home of her daughter, Mrs. Sam Rainey and family, of Derlington avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cristofanelli of Niagara Falls, N. Y., have returned, after spending part of their honeymoon trip with the latter's uncle and aunt Mr. and Mrs. Carmen Pastore and family of 214 North Liberty street. Mrs. Cristofanelli teaches modern languages in Niagara Falls university.

Calendar Supply For 1947 More Abundant

Most everyone this far along in the year has grown tired of looking at the same calendar that has been keeping them posted on the date for the past 11 months and are ready to discard it for a new one, which isn't too hard to find at the present time.

After a dearth for the past four or five years, due mostly to the paper shortage, brought on by the war, calendars have once more made a decided comeback. It was discovered by an interested reporter as he visited numerous merchants about the city to find out what the calendar of 1947 looked like.

As for size, John Q. Citizen, if he shops around long enough, won't have any trouble finding one that will fit into that particular niche reserved for his favorite calendar. A reporter found them from little junior sizes away up to the giant sizes which are most handy around offices and business places.

In many instances, the scenes and ideas depicted on the calendars are conventional, with the majority of them displaying one central theme.

while others carried 12 different pictures, denoting a scene representing the outstanding event of that particular month.

The annual survey showed that many publishers were attempting to play on the heartstrings of the younger members of the family, or illustrating every day home scenes, many of which caused laughter, while others provoked serious thought. Other publishers made a direct play for the attention of the sports minded individual of the house by depicting outdoor activities in the world of fishing or hunting.

History students, it was found, were not forgotten either. The signing of the Declaration of Independence was very effectively illustrated on one rather large calendar. Housewives were not excluded, because on the reverse side of some were found some choice recipes, which will be mighty handy when and if sugar becomes one of those unrationed items.

Last, but not least, the "wolf" member of the family was not left out in the countless pictures put out by the calendar makers. Some very curvaceous young ladies are very prominently displayed on several of the samples gathered by a weary reporter when the rounds were all completed.

So if you don't get the calendar of your choice, don't blame me, they're yours for the asking—if you know where to look.

Circulate Petitions For Traffic Light

Following up recent action taken by the December Lawrence county grand jury, recommending the installation of a traffic light at the intersection of East Washington, Pearson and County Line streets, petitions are being circulated among the members of the three churches of that area, to secure prompt action on the light erection.

At the Wednesday evening services of the three churches, the Second U. P., the Alliance Gospel Tabernacle and the First Pentecostal, numerous names were signed on the petitions. They will be presented again at the Sunday services. If followed up, the new traffic signal will eliminate a dangerous condition, which has existed at the busy intersection for some time. When completed, the circulars will be presented to city council.

Absenteeism Will Not Be Factor In State House In Next Session

HARRISBURG, Dec. 5.—(INS)—gun with the respect due a loaded gun; carry only empty guns, taken down or with the action open, into your automobile, camp, and home; always be sure that the barrel and action are clear of obstructions; always carry your gun so that you can control the direction of the muzzle, even if you stumble; be sure of your target before pulling the trigger; never point a gun at anything you do not want to shoot; never leave your gun unattended unless you unload it; never climb a tree or fence with a loaded gun; never shoot at a flat, hard surface or the surface of water; do not mix gunpowder and alcohol.

In previous years, the absent members were labeled "shirkers" by their more conscientious Republican and Democratic colleagues. At times, absenteeism presented headaches for leaders of both parties. Experience has shown that the largest number of backsliders come from the metropolitan areas. Representatives from other sections of Pennsylvania usually are regular attendants. If members are asked why they are returning to their homes during a session they usually say something about "private business" requiring attention.

Pennsylvania's State Game commission has outlined what it called "The Ten Commandments of Safety" for sportsmen to exercise while hunting. They were: Treat every

Some assemblymen visiting the state capitol have admitted that proposals for a state sales tax, if introduced at the general assembly next year, would face a tough fight. Although no legislators or organizations have openly suggested a sales tax, some assemblymen said it was anticipated that such proposals may be tossed into the legislative hopper in an attempt to provide additional commonwealth revenue for increased salaries for school teachers and state employees.

The Pennsylvania Chiefs of Police association has reported that a survey of 52 municipalities showed that 40 of the communities had boosted law enforcement officers' salaries during 1946. The association's monthly bulletin pointed out that the pay boosts ranged from five to 20 per cent. The average monthly increase was approximately $12.50. Two of the 40 communities made two separate increases during the year while second pay boosts were under consideration by two other municipalities.

The recent conference between governors elect James H. Duff of Pennsylvania and Alfred E. Driscoll of New Jersey, at which they pledged joint action in developing the Philadelphia-Camden port area, pointed up the importance of inter-state cooperation, the state planning board has explained. "During the past 15 years there has developed a growing trend among the north-eastern states to act together for the solution of their common problems, particularly problems for the lems, particularly problems concerning highway transportation, the pollution of rivers and abatement of floods," the board said.

Special Training For Vets Having Hearing Trouble

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 5.—(INS)—Special rehabilitation training for veterans in the Pittsburgh area, who have severe hearing deficiencies is now available at the Philadelphia Naval Hospital.

Dr. Harold H. McBurney, chief of the medical division of the Pittsburgh regional office of the veterans administration, reports that the VA has 100 beds under contract at the hospital for special training of veterans in need of aural rehabilitation.

There are 385 veterans in the Pittsburgh vicinity who have hearing deficiencies of such a degree as would qualify them for this special training, which is a four-week course of instruction in voice modulation, lip reading and the use of hearing aids.

Now Many Wear FALSE TEETH

With Little Worry

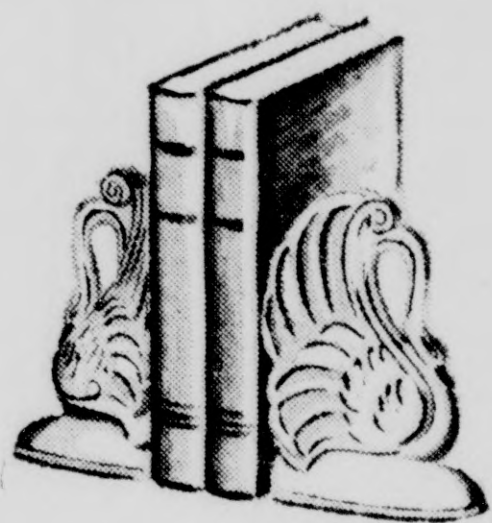

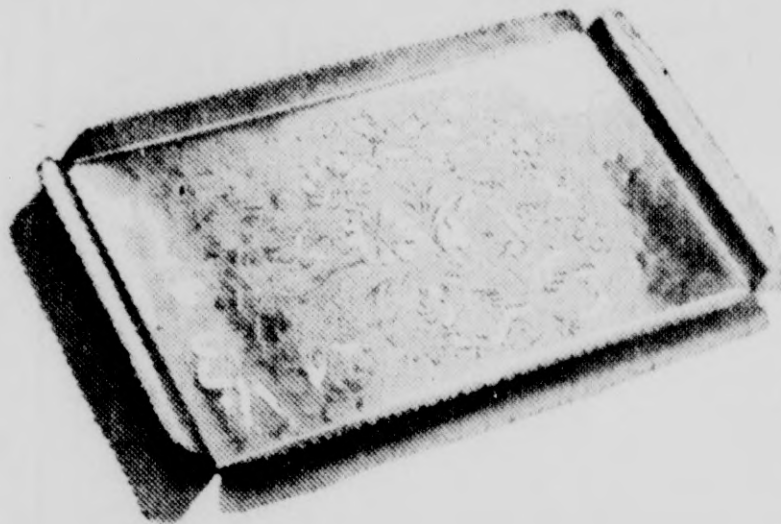

Eat, talk, laugh or sneeze without fear of insecure false teeth dropping, slipping or wobbling. F.A.S. TEETH holds plates firmer and more comfortably. This pleasant powder has no gummy, soapy, nasty taste or feeling. Duesen's "Plate" is alkaline (non-acid). Checks "plate" color (denture breath). Get F.A.S. TEETH at any drug store.

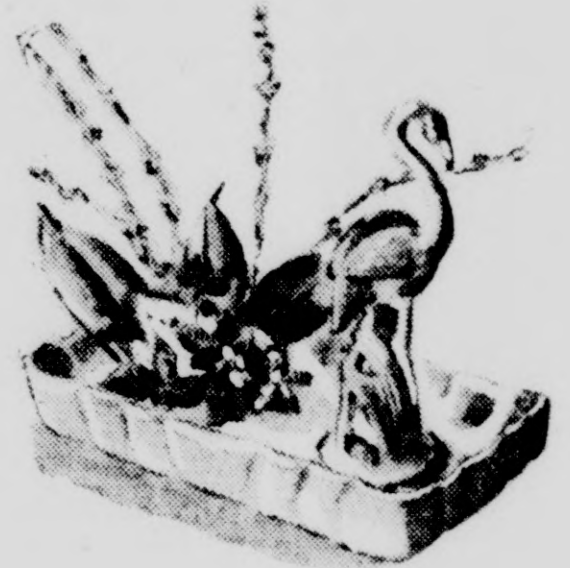

SAFE?

If you spend any time at home—if you ever drive or ride—if you sometimes walk—if you ever go to work, if you ever travel—if you ever engage in sports, you need Accident Insurance.
